THE VOA CHARTER

President Gerald Ford signed the VOA Charter (Public Law 94-350) into law on July 12, 1976. It protects the independence and integrity of VOA programming.

The long-range interests of the United States are served by communicating directly with the peoples of the world by radio. To be effective, the Voice of America must win the attention and respect of listeners. These principles will therefore govern Voice of America (VOA) broadcasts:

1. VOA will serve as a consistently reliable and authoritative source of news. VOA news will be accurate, objective, and comprehensive.
2. VOA will represent America, not any single segment of American society, and will therefore present a balanced and comprehensive projection of significant American thought and institutions.
3. VOA will present the policies of the United States clearly and effectively, and will also present responsible discussions and opinions on these policies.

INTRODUCTION

THIS GUIDE APPLIES TO ALL EMPLOYEES, CONTRACTORS AND STRINGERS WHO GATHER, PRODUCE, EDIT, TRANSLATE, PRESENT AND DISSEMINATE CONTENT FOR VOA

The purpose of this Guide is to define in more detail the journalistic standards and best practices that VOA full-time employees and contractors should follow every day. Although the increasingly changing news and information environment requires each of us to have a basic understanding of best practices, it goes without saying that every news event, every radio, TV and web piece, every social media post, every program, every interview – that is, everything we cover, produce and disseminate – is unique and must be considered in context and on its own merits.

VOA full-time employees and contractors are encouraged to bring issues not covered in this guide to the attention of their supervisors, Service Chiefs, Division Directors, the News Standards & Best Practices Editor, VOA Senior Management or the Office of General Counsel as appropriate.

- There may be times when the News Center or a Language Service will be working on stories that allege wrongdoing. In those cases, the Office of General Counsel must be consulted.
\(Also see Legal Issues, p. 57\)

It is everyone's responsibility to understand these best practices as well as to consider one's own sense of right and wrong. Credibility is the most precious commodity of any news organization. The only way to achieve and maintain that credibility is for everyone within VOA to accept responsibility for it.

WHEN IN DOUBT, ASK – DO NOT ASSUME

This guide will help, but should not replace, discussions of difficult issues with co-workers and supervisors. We grow as a news organization -- and policies are formed -- by asking questions and discussing the journalistic issues we face daily.

In addition to these journalistic guidelines, federal employees are also required to follow the policies laid out by the Office of Government Ethics and USAGM's Ethics Counsel.

The Best Practices Guide is a living document and is updated regularly on SharePoint and in Galaxy/Webspace.

NEWS GATHERING

FAIRNESS, OBJECTIVITY & BALANCE

WHEN PERFORMING OFFICIAL DUTIES, VOA STAFF LEAVE THEIR PERSONAL POLITICAL VIEWS BEHIND

- All VOA staff and contractors should put aside their own cultural values and personal beliefs when preparing a report, conducting an interview, hosting a newscast, interview program, or posting on social media.
- The accuracy, quality and credibility of the Voice of America are its most important assets, and they rest on our audiences' perception of VOA as an accurate, objective and reliable source of U.S., regional and world news and information.
- VOA journalists -- including writers, correspondents, stringers, program hosts, and social media teams -- should always avoid the use of unattributed negative terms or labels to describe persons or organizations. The only exceptions are when individuals and groups use those labels to describe themselves or their activities, or someone is directly quoted using a negative term.
- Be fair to all of the people involved in a story. People who are presented in a negative light must be given a reasonable chance to present their side of the issue. If they refuse to comment, that must be noted.
- A correspondent, producer or host should be well prepared with facts to balance the statements of one side or the other. Don't simply nod in acknowledgment when listening to someone's answer, as this could imply that you agree with that position.
- VOA journalists and all those preparing broadcast, website and social media programming must avoid any action or statement that might give the appearance of partisanship.
This includes the wearing of lapel pins, religious symbols, clothing designs or color schemes that appear to support one party or individual over another.

➤ THERE IS NO PLACE AT VOA FOR ADVOCACY JOURNALISM - THE PRESENTATION OF NEWS FROM ONE PARTICULAR VIEWPOINT OR ONE SPECIFIC AGENDA.

➤ VOA JOURNALISTS CANNOT ACCEPT MONETARY PAYMENT OR GIFTS FROM ANY INDIVIDUAL, SPECIAL INTEREST GROUP, OR POLITICAL ORGANIZATION IN EXCHANGE FOR NEWS COVERAGE. IT IS A VIOLATION OF JOURNALISTIC ETHICS.

- Other conflicts of interest may come up, such as the relationship of staff members with VOA and USAGM management.
Where possible, VOA journalists should avoid covering an event where a speaker or panelist is from VOA simply because VOA is represented at the event. If the event is newsworthy, the report should disclose and explain that VOA is represented at the event and explain the editorial reason for covering the event as a news story.
- VOA employees and contractors must carry out their work with the utmost professionalism. Just as we as journalists do not make critical statements towards or about members of the government, we do not offer them words of praise either. Especially in our case, it might create an impression that VOA is working hand-in-hand with another government agency. We have to fight that on a regular basis, and it doesn't help if our critics see or hear a statement of that nature. When you are called on in a briefing, state your name, your work affiliation and then ask your question.
- Professionalism applies equally to your work in the Cohen Building, the bureaus, and in the field. Respect for your colleagues is absolutely vital to maintaining best practices. Whether in a newsroom, studio, control room or in the field, pursuit of a story is not an excuse for arrogance.

BIAS & DIVERSITY

One of the key areas for ensuring fairness, objectivity and balance in our reporting is to avoid bias or preconceived notions.

- Avoid stereotyping by race, gender, age, religion, ethnicity, geography, sexual orientation, disability, social status or physical appearance.
- VOA personnel should make a good-faith effort to ensure that interviewees presented in VOA reports and programs are given equal consideration and without favor to any one gender group.
- Don't include a description of an individual unless it is essential to the story. If a description doesn't serve an editorial purpose, it may perpetuate negative stereotypes, possibly anger some members of a community and in all likelihood will not effectively advance the story. Poynter explains why here: Poynter-Negative Stereotypes
- Be aware of the possibility of racial or ethnic stereotyping when selecting images to include in stories. In a story about unwed mothers in the U.S., should every mother shown be African American? When file video about drug arrests in the U.S., should every person shown be African American or Hispanic? The clear answer is no.
- Avoid the casual use of words and phrases like "illegal immigrant," "Third World" and "terrorist," or the assumption that "fundamentalism" equals violence.
\(Also see Loaded Words, p. 32\)
- Poynter provides this chart to illustrate how certain assumptions can reflect bias in editorial decision-making and story production.

POLITICAL ACTIVITY

VOA STAFF CANNOT CAMPAIGN FOR OR ORGANIZE EVENTS FOR POLITICAL CANDIDATES

THAT IS A VIOLATION OF THE JOURNALISTIC ETHIC OF FAIRNESS, OBJECTIVITY AND BALANCE AND SHOULD BE AVOIDED AT ALL TIMES

THE HATCH ACT

The Hatch Act is a federal law prohibiting government employees in the Executive Branch from engaging in partisan political activity. The Office of General Counsel has provided some basic guidelines regarding political activity by VOA employees.

Employees MAY NOT engage in political activity while:

- On duty – You are on duty when you are teleworking
- In any government office
- Using a government vehicle
- Wearing an official uniform or insignia

In addition, the following political activities are prohibited while on duty:

- Wearing campaign buttons and/or t-shirts
- Displaying campaign posters in the workplace
- Using AGENCY e-mail accounts, social media accounts or blogs to support or criticize a candidate or political position
- Using agency computers to make online campaign donations
- Using screensavers supporting or criticizing a candidate or political position
- Using agency-supplied smartphones to support or criticize a candidate or political position

For more complete guidance on the Hatch Act, please follow this link to the Office of General Counsel's Ethics page.

POLITICAL REPORTING

To avoid appearances of inappropriate endorsement or bias, if any VOA website reports on a Democratic or Republican presidential debate and the story includes a link to the campaign website of one candidate, we must include the campaign websites of all the candidates taking part in the debate. The same holds true if we are reporting on candidates for the Senate, House and for governors.

We follow the same guidelines during the final presidential campaign period with regard to a sitting president and the opposing candidate/s. But in that case, the link for the sitting president MUST BE TO THE CAMPAIGN'S WEBSITE, NOT TO WWW.WHITEHOUSE.GOV.

VOA DOES NOT “call” elections, and declarations of victory need strict attribution, generally to AP’s and Reuters’ calls. We do not refer to a candidate as more than an “apparent” or “projected” winner until results are certified.

In other words, when reporting on U.S. political campaigns, all VOA websites should follow the same journalistic balance and fairness as in all of our daily reporting.

SOCIAL MEDIA

- You can be a journalist, or you can be an advocate -- but never both.

Technology has changed radically over the last 20 years, but the basic principles of journalism have not. If you are a journalist you should never post anything online that would lead people to believe you support any policy, political party, or ideology. News organizations, like VOA, adhere to the highest standards of professional journalism, and require journalists who are – and are perceived as – impartial and objective. Therefore, it is critical that you are fair, impartial, and objective at all times on social media and other public spaces. Assume that everything you post online can or will become public at some point.

FULL DISCLOSURE

- To not disclose personal involvement is an act of advocacy and is prohibited for journalists.

If you have a personal interest in any issue — whether political, financial, or ideological — it is your responsibility to first discuss with your editor whether you should cover the story. In most cases your editor will tell you to recuse yourself and will assign the story to someone else. But even when you aren't reporting on a subject and simply sharing stories online, you have a responsibility to disclose when a given story may impact you personally.

PERSONAL ACCOUNTS

- Sharing VOA reporting on personal accounts is fine but uploading raw news agency content directly to personal accounts is not.

Not only does direct posting to personal accounts take the audience away from official accounts, but it could leave you legally responsible for infringing the copyright of the wire services (AFP, AP and Reuters). Furthermore, VOA does not provide any support for personal accounts, including verification or ad campaigns, because those accounts are not agency property.

LIKES AND RETWEETS

- Don't join the conversation unless your goal is to engage in reporting – and always assume that sharing the comments of others will lead your followers to believe you agree with those opinions.

Amplifying others' opinions by liking or retweeting them is no different than if you had written the post yourself and should be as fair and impartial as everything else you do. Social media can be an echo chamber, with like-minded groups of people parroting each other's talking points.

AUDIENCE TARGETING

- The Voice of America does not attempt to reach audiences in the United States. This includes diaspora groups. There are no exceptions, even if the content is in a language other than English, or the groups or individuals are from countries which we reach overseas.

The Smith-Mundt Act limits VOA to broadcasting to foreign audiences, overseas. Consequently, every single post on social media should be written with a specific foreign audience in mind. Furthermore, you should not signal your position on one side or another of America's cultural or political disputes. If you repeatedly talk about issues that non-Americans cannot understand, you are out of your social media lane. VOA serves overseas audiences alone and your work on social media should reflect that.

\(Also see Smith-Mundt Regulations, p. 51\)

SOCIAL MEDIA AS A REPORTING TOOL

- Before running any material discovered on social media over broadcast or digital platforms, be sure to carefully scrutinize accounts originating the material for the user's post history, how long the account has been in existence, and other pieces of forensic evidence.

These platforms present an extraordinary opportunity to get on-the-ground footage of events, often in places where VOA cannot safely send its journalists. But that comes with an extraordinary risk: pictures and videos claiming to be of a particular event are often fake or misattributed. When in doubt, consult VOA's in-house experts on validating third-party material.

\(Also see User-Generated Content, p. 92\)

TRANSPARENCY

- Every news outlet makes mistakes. If your reporting contains a factual error it should be corrected as quickly as possible, with a notation at the bottom.

Never delete any content on any platform without first consulting your supervisor or Service Chief.

While you should not delete incorrect stories or video from your site, you should use the content management system to remove it from major section fronts until it is corrected. The URL will continue to work but will not be highlighted on the site.

\(Also see Corrections, p. 55\)

VIOLATIONS

ALLEGATIONS OF SOCIAL MEDIA MISUSE WILL BE FULLY INVESTIGATED, AND STAFFERS WILL BE NOTIFIED OF ANY SUCH ALLEGATIONS.

SOCIAL MEDIA MISUSE, INCLUDING AS DESCRIBED IN THIS GUIDE, CAN RESULT IN DISCIPLINARY ACTION, UP TO AND INCLUDING REMOVAL FROM FEDERAL SERVICE

SOURCING

Whenever possible, a source should be “on the record” – someone who is willing to be named and quoted. If a source refuses to be named, the information he or she provides must be characterized in other ways, as clearly as possible.

- A REQUEST FOR CONFIDENTIALITY SHOULD COME FROM THE SOURCE. IT IS NEVER SUGGESTED BY THE CORRESPONDENT OR PRODUCER.

However, your editor, VOA senior management and the Office of General Counsel have a right to know the name of the source if they ask for it.

- AN UNNAMED SOURCE MUST HAVE VERIFIABLE AND FIRST-HAND KNOWLEDGE OF THE STORY

Before using an unnamed source, you must be certain that there is no other way to get the information on the record. You must be convinced the source knows what he/she is talking about, and you should consider asking for factual evidence to support the source’s claim or comment. Be sure that the source is actually confirming the information from his or her knowledge of a particular situation and is not simply hearing it from you and agreeing that it is plausible, or that the source has heard the information from someone else.

Avoid extremely vague terms such as “unnamed sources” or “unidentified sources,” “informed sources,” “authoritative sources,” “well-placed sources,” “reliable sources.”

You should be willing to tell our audience why the source cannot be named. For example, you can say, “The source’s name is being withheld to protect against possible reprisals.”

A story that relies on the use of confidential/unnamed sources should be of public concern.

There will be times when news outlets report information from unnamed sources during a breaking story, such as the Boston Marathon bombing in April 2013. In that incident, multiple news organizations said there was an arrest and VOA reported that information. That information was later found to be incorrect and VOA issued a correction across all platforms.

\(Also see Social Media, p. 12 and Corrections, p. 55\)

The following explanations help to establish with a source what level of confidentiality you agree to. It is best to clarify with the source how the information may be used.

- ON THE RECORD
All information is suitable for publication and attributable to the source by name and title.
 - OFF THE RECORD
Material that is “off the record” is not directly usable, but the information can be used to focus the direction of a story. Off-the-record material may also be a valid second source to confirm information obtained elsewhere.
 - ON BACKGROUND
“On background” is generally understood to mean the information given can be used, provided it is attributed to a generic source. “A senior administration official said on background that the election was flawed.”
 - DEEP BACKGROUND
Information obtained on “deep background” is normally provided with the understanding that it will not be sourced directly in any way. Acceptable wording might be, “It was learned that the delegates agreed to a second meeting on Tuesday.”
- PUBLICATION OF A SIGNIFICANT STORY BASED UPON A SINGLE SOURCE WHO WILL NOT ALLOW HIS OR HER NAME TO BE USED MUST ALWAYS BE APPROVED IN ADVANCE BY VOA SENIOR MANAGEMENT.
 - UPON REQUEST, DISCLOSURE OF A SOURCE’S IDENTITY TO VOA SENIOR MANAGEMENT AND TO THE OFFICE OF GENERAL COUNSEL MAY BE REQUIRED TO CLEAR THE SOURCED INFORMATION FOR AIR.
 - WHEN DISCUSSING CONFIDENTIALITY WITH A SOURCE, IT IS ADVISABLE TO EXPLAIN THE POSSIBILITY OF THIS LIMITED DISCLOSURE WITHIN VOA. REFUSAL TO DISCLOSE THE SOURCE MAY RESULT IN THE SOURCE’S INFORMATION NOT BEING USED BY VOA.
\(Also see Reporter’s Privilege & Confidential Sources, p. 63\)

RUMORS & SPECULATION

- VOA avoids the use of rumors and speculation in news items.
However, this should be carefully evaluated on a case-by-case basis in instances where a rumor or speculation takes on a life of its own. In general, reporters, producers and editors should seek out responsible officials to respond to the rumors or speculation and use those comments as our entry to the story. Without an official comment, VOA should not be first to publicize a rumor or speculation.

ATTRIBUTION OF OUTSIDE SOURCES

WE GIVE CREDIT WHERE CREDIT IS DUE

Proper attribution is a fundamental element of good journalism.

VOA's primary sources of news are our own correspondents and stringers, and our agreements with ABC News, Agence France Presse, the Associated Press and Reuters.

However, we also get our information from newspapers, television news networks, official news agencies of other nations, corporate press releases or non-governmental organizations (NGOs).

Some guidelines for proper attribution:

- When VOA interviews someone for a particular news story or topic, the scripts should indicate that the person was speaking to VOA.
- When using statements by an individual at a news conference or in other public settings, the scripts should indicate where and how the statement or quote was made.
- When VOA uses information or interviews/quotes from sources outside of our contracts, or uses quotes from editorials, opinion pieces or social media posts, it is mandatory to credit the media organization, NGO or other outlet. Not including that information can open VOA to possible claims of plagiarism and/or copyright infringement.
- As with fair use of video, DO NOT ABUSE THE COPYRIGHT OF THE OWNER OF THE CONTENT.

(Also see Crediting the Newsfeed Providers, p. 19 and Plagiarism, p. 24)

One method of providing attribution is in the use of hyperlinks. In the two examples below, the New York Times and Washington Post provided links to the original source of the information.

- THIS IS MANDATORY FOR ALL VOA WEBSITES AND SOCIAL MEDIA PLATFORMS.

The New York Times

In an interview this week with The Wall Street Journal, Mr. Trump quipped about his phones being insecure. When asked what American officials in Turkey had learned about the killing of the journalist Jamal Khashoggi in the Saudi Consulate in Istanbul, he replied, "I actually said don't give it to me on the phone. As good as these phones are supposed to be."

The Washington Post

But Democratic lawmakers made clear Thursday morning that they will not ignore a New York Times report that Trump has refused to stop using iPhones in the White House, despite repeated warnings from U.S. intelligence officials that Chinese and Russian spies are routinely listening in on his conversations.

Information that comes directly from the U.S. government – the White House, State Department, Pentagon or Congress – is considered valid on its own but must still be attributed.

On a breaking news story AFP, AP or Reuters may quote a single source such as a police official or a government spokesperson. In those cases our copy will attribute the information to the wire service and say that VOA is working to confirm the information.

Information in News Center stories does not require additional sourcing.

FULL SCREEN GRAPHICS

We often use information or statistics that come from think tanks, NGOs, or another government agency. Aside from crediting those groups in scripts, they must also be credited in full-screen graphics, whether as a stand-alone page or within a video package.

Any time a graphic is based on information or statistics that are not originally generated by VOA, a small source attribution needs to be included on the graphic, as seen in the example below.

OPENSOURCE

The U.S. government-funded news portal OpenSource is an important tool for finding source information. VOA uses the text material in OpenSource as a second source of news and information.

OpenSource can be found in Galaxy/Webspace at WIRES→OPENSOURCE→ALL WIRES

VOA DOES NOT HAVE ACCESS to the audio and video which OpenSource posts from news organizations such as BBC, Sky News and Al Jazeera English, for example, with whom VOA does not have contractual agreements.

WIKIPEDIA

- Wikipedia should not be considered or used as a primary source of information.

There have been a number of incidents where material posted on Wikipedia has not been verified or has proven to be incorrect. Any information found on Wikipedia should be confirmed with other, more reliable sources, or with the News Center.

CREDITING THE NEWSFEED PROVIDERS

To make sure that our best practices are in sync with our news agency contracts, below is guidance on how VOA should credit the agencies across all platforms. Each platform has different guidelines, and everyone should be aware of the differences, especially if you're producing a story that will appear on different platforms.

Regardless of the platform, editors should carry out occasional spot-checks of copy to ensure that the guidance is being followed.

RADIO

- AFP, AP and Reuters have all confirmed that VOA radio broadcasts can use their news wire copy verbatim without verbal attribution or credit. All three agencies consider this to be “standard use” of their material.

Although the contracts permit this, VOA's best practice should still be to double-source the information and then put that information into your own words.

- However, if one wire service has an exclusive interview or information that other news organizations do not have, we should give that wire service verbal credit in the broadcast.
- This guidance applies to all FTE and PSC contractors. Stringers filing for VOA who use news agency copy for their reports should provide proper attribution.

VIDEO

- Although the individual news agency IDs and the Dot are burned into agency video as they are being recorded in Galaxy, it is preferable that all video pieces -- whether produced by the News Center or by a language service -- should note the time segments where ABC NewsOne, AFP, AP and Reuters videos are used. That is our way of tracking/crediting them for the usage, and for the Senior Archivists to know whether the material is worth keeping.
- Video downloaded from the ABC, AFP, AP and Reuters websites must have the proper ID added to the video before it is broadcast or published. This is a requirement of our contracts with our providers.
(Also see Video Usage Rights, p. 70 and News Agency IDs and the Dot, p. 77)
- Verbal credit to the news agencies is not required for video reports, unless the video is exclusive and is noted as such in the agency's script.

WEB

It has long been the practice in print to credit the wire services when using their stories in whole or in part. All VOA websites and social media pages should follow this practice.

- How the credit looks when using a single news agency's wire story in full, with the agency's name at the top.

The end credit MUST be included, even if the wire service is credited in the body of the story.

- If a paragraph cannot be rewritten – perhaps it’s a description of a complicated idea or is information only that wire service had – the wording should be “according to a report from Reuters,” or something similar.
- Agency photos used on VOA websites and on agency-maintained social media pages must include a captioned credit to the agency.

(Also see Captions/Credits, p. 101)

BYLINES

VOA frequently publishes stories with contributions from News Center and language service journalists. This is an explanation of the News Center's policy on how contributions should be credited in the script and how to determine who receives the byline on the finished web story. There are also several examples showing who would earn the byline under different reporting scenarios.

Story script headers in Microsoft Teams have three fields related to tracking reporter contributions, noted here in bold:

EDITOR NOTES:

- When creating a story in Microsoft Teams the Script Writer is the journalist who actually composed/updated/ corrected the written text. If a story is updated, with minor additions, the writer field must be updated as well, so that later questions can be directed to the relevant person. If an editor updates a story, the editor's name goes into the writer field.
- The contributor credit goes to reporters who provided key information for a story that ended up in the final copy, but who are not involved in actually writing the story.
- The web byline entry follows the bylines policy detailed on the next page.
- ONLY the web byline and/or the contributing line are published online.

It is the responsibility of all writers and correspondents to know the bylines policy and fill out the template accurately. News desk editors should ensure that this is done correctly before publishing, so that it is clearly laid out for the Web editors.

WHO GETS THE WEB BYLINE

A web byline depends in part on whether there is original reporting in the story. The News Center's byline policy tries to highlight when a reporter is on location where a story is occurring, and/or when we have original content.

The next sections explain the byline policy for reporters working out of VOA's headquarters and the policy for reporters working in the field. When reporters are on location filing material to a writer/editor on the news desk, VOA generally follows AP's byline policy, linked below.

VOA HQ-BASED JOURNALISTS

For journalists based in VOA's headquarters in Washington, a byline on a story requires including in a story information that comes from direct contact with a news source – whether that's a phone call, an email, a Twitter direct message, etc.

For example: Watching a news event live on TV and combining that with a press release is not "byline worthy." However, if the writer/reporter gets additional information from a source, and that content is included in the published story, then the writer/reporter will get the byline. Stories that do not meet the byline standard, but are considered still worth publishing, will carry a generic VOA News byline instead of a reporter's name.

AP allows bylines only from reporters who have a relevant dateline. VOA does allow bylines from writers and reporters working inside its main Washington headquarters whose reporting meets the byline standard.

BUREAU & FIELD REPORTERS

AP recommends that reporters who are filing from location for a breaking news story get first billing on a byline – even if much of the story is actually written by someone on their desk. For VOA, if the desk writer or editor also contributes original reporting, the final editor will determine whether the work merits a shared byline or contributor mention.

NEWS CENTER POLICY ON PSEUDONYMS & "PEN NAMES"

The News Center does not permit reporters to use pseudonyms as bylines on English language news stories. The main reason is that fabricating a reporter's identity undermines VOA's credibility.

For reporters who do not wish to have their name on a story for security issues or other valid reasons, the News Center will use a generic VOA News byline. An explanation can be included in a contributor line, should the reporter wish to highlight why his or her real name cannot be used.

For example:

"A VOA employee working in Pakistan contributed to this report. The reporter's name is being withheld because of ongoing threats against journalists in the country."

"A VOA Mandarin service journalist wrote this report. VOA is declining to name the reporter because of Chinese government policies that threaten journalists and their extended families."

If a reporter does not want to use his or her name in a voiced TV or radio report, the intro and the signoff may omit it. A possible final line for an intro: “We have this report from our West Africa bureau in Dakar.” For the signoff the reporter would say, “...VOA News, West Africa bureau.”

BYLINE EXAMPLES INVOLVING MULTIPLE JOURNALISTS

- A language service interviews a newsmaker or analyst and sends the news desk the interview audio, which a writer uses in an OCN.
WEB BYLINE: VOA News
CONTRIBUTING: Language service reporter name(s)
WRITER: Writer’s name
- A language service reporter/stringer is on the scene of a breaking news event overseas and sends in quotes from eyewitnesses and color from the scene. A writer takes the material, and shapes it into a story, adding context and background.
WEB BYLINE: Language service reporter/stringer
CONTRIBUTING: None (unless writer also calls an analyst/contributes original material)
WRITER: Writer’s name

PLAGIARISM

- Allegations of plagiarism are to be reported to the News Standards and Best Practices Editor.
- The News Standards and Best Practices Editor shall determine whether an allegation of plagiarism is credible and shall inform the VOA Director, the Director of Programming, Division Director and Service Chief.
- In such instances, the content should be immediately taken down, pending a more complete investigation of the alleged plagiarism. Insert language like this in place of the story:

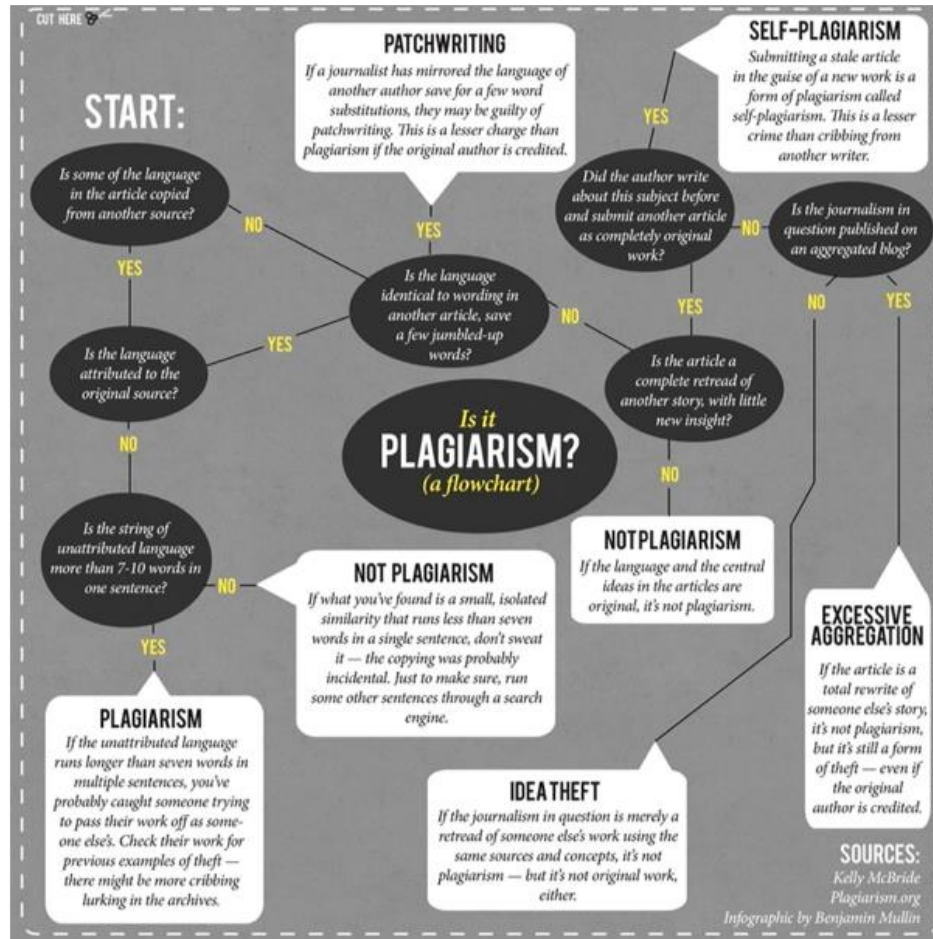

This article is being reviewed

- If the News Standards and Best Practices Editor verifies that plagiarized content has in fact been posted on any VOA website and/or social media account, the content in question shall be permanently removed. In its place, the language like the following should appear:
The article that previously appeared at this location has been removed because it was found to include what we determined to be plagiarized material.
- This is in addition to any other notification required by the Best Practices Editor to demonstrate to VOA's global audiences that plagiarized material will not be tolerated and will be removed promptly.

DRONES

The use of drones is heavily regulated, and VOA will own and operate drones in the United States subject to governmental restrictions and VOA policies.

It is illegal to operate an unmanned aerial system/drone (UAS) for business purposes in the United States without advance approval from the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA). Prospective VOA drone users must obtain a Remote Pilot Certificate (the official title for a drone pilot license) prior to any field usage of a drone.

DRONE USAGE BY VOA-AFFILIATED PERSONNEL IS RESTRICTED TO PROPERLY LICENSED DRONE PILOTS.

VOA drone pilots will follow the FAA'S rules and respect all restrictions, including those imposed locally by police or emergency service agencies. VOA journalists contracting for drone services must also be aware of laws and safety regulations governing their use.

When a drone will be used to cover a story, advance notice via email must be sent to the VOA Deputy Director for Programming (jlippman@voanews.com; 202-203-4325) or the News Standards & Best Practices Editor (sspringer@voanews.com; 202-203-4276). A summary of the story and location of the shoot should be included in the email.

VOA will use guidelines from the Professional Society of Drone Journalists (www.dronejournalism.org) to determine drone usage:

- NEWSWORTHINESS: The story must be of sufficient importance to risk using a potentially harmful drone. Do not use a drone if the information or aerial perspective can be gathered by other, safer means.
- SAFETY: A drone pilot must be properly trained in the operation of the equipment. The equipment must be in a condition suitable to safe and controlled flight. A drone must not fly in weather conditions that exceed the limits of the drone's ability to operate safely. A drone must be flown in a manner that ensures the safety of the public and is least disruptive to the general population in a public setting. A Pilot's first drone flight should not be when shooting a story.
- REGULATIONS AND PUBLIC SPACES: A drone pilot must follow the regulations that apply to the airspace where the drone is used.
- PRIVACY: Use of a drone must never compromise the privacy of non-public figures. VOA journalists should not use images of private citizens in private spaces that are encountered beyond the scope of their stories.

Drones will be standardized as specified by VOA TV Operations, adhering to all federal drone purchasing guidelines and/or mandates. TV Operations will inventory and house them in Washington, D.C. or selected domestic bureaus. Drones will be registered with the Federal Aviation Administration (<https://registermyuas.faa.gov/>) in the name of VOA. Like other VOA technical equipment, purchases of drones will be approved in advance by TV Operations.

VOA WILL NOT OWN AND OPERATE DRONES OUTSIDE THE UNITED STATES.

Unlike the FAA in the U.S., neither the International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO) nor the European Aviation Safety Agency (EASA) have established general usage or legal guidelines for drone operations. Regulations vary from country to country, frequently change, and may not yet be established. For instance, there is no listing of drone regulations for Iran. However, the Global Drone Regulations Database, is an international directory containing summaries of countries' drone laws, if known.

VOA journalists requiring a drone outside the U.S. will need to rent drone services from a pilot/operator licensed for the particular country in which the shoot is planned. They will also be expected to search the database to make sure VOA will not inadvertently violate regulations for the country in which the shoot is planned.

Contracting for drone services outside the country, like contracting for other external services, should be requested in advance from VOA Broadcast Operations, which will work with the IBB Office of Contracts to arrange services. Once drone services are secured, Language Services should advise the Deputy Program Director (jilippman@voanews.com) or the News Standards & Best Practices Editor (sspringer@voanews.com) of the name of the drone pilot and the drone's registration information.

- Nothing in this section prevents VOA journalists from obtaining drone footage taken by non-VOA personnel who have acted independently of VOA.

User-generated drone video will be governed by the same standards and verifications as other independently gathered video used by VOA, prior to its use.

\(Also see User-Generated Content, p. 92\)

THE DRONE CREW

There are three operations roles in drone flight: Pilot, Observer, and Journalist. Although a single individual can fill all three roles, VOA will normally have at least two people involved in any drone flight: a Pilot and a combination Observer/Journalist.

- PILOT: Responsible for all flight operations and the ultimate authority on any flight. The Pilot determines if the aircraft is airworthy and capable of conducting the proposed operations in the available airspace, and is responsible for conducting operations within all FAA regulations (and any restrictions set forth by a "grant of exemption" from the FAA). The Pilot must brief the other members of the crew about the specifics of the mission, their roles and responsibilities, and what is expected of them before, during and after flight operations. The Pilot – the person holding the FAA-issued Part 107 certificate – is by regulation the final authority on whether the drone flies or not. The Pilot's decision on flight safety is final.
- OBSERVER: Responsible for monitoring the operational area to ensure that there are no hazards that may endanger the flight or people. The Observer is the only member of the team who should speak to the Pilot during flight operations. The Observer is to alert the Pilot if any aircraft come into the area, or if any person or vehicle comes near the operation. The Observer should remain within speaking distance of the Pilot.
- JOURNALIST: Responsible for communicating flight goals before the flight and verifying results after the drone lands. Defines the aerial elements needed for the story, but is subordinate to the Pilot, who has responsibility for determining if the Journalist's goals are possible under the conditions presented.

FLIGHT OPERATIONS

VOA drone pilots should use the checklists at ALOFT.AI. Pre-trip and pre-flight inspections help ensure airworthiness and will serve as an early warning for both maintenance issues and for mechanical issues that could substantially affect or cancel flight operations or safety.

PRE-TRIP: Pre-trip and prior to embarking on any drone operation, the Pilot must gather information about the proposed flight area to ensure operations comply with FAA safety regulations. The Pilot should view publicly available aerial images of the area or personally conduct a site survey that will enable him/her to answer questions about the proposed flight location and be confident of success in the mission, including:

- What is there?
- Are there hazards to aviation?
- What airspace is it in?
- Do we need permission from air traffic control (ATC)?
- Are we flying on or over private property? Do we have permission of the landowner to operate there?
- How many people might be in or around the area? What is our plan to prevent flight over people?
- How high above sea level is the location? How will the altitude affect the performance of your drone during flight?

Prior to the day of the shoot, the Pilot and Observer/Journalist should meet to define the goals of the drone shoot and specific mission goals, including:

- What shots do you need (specific expected shots, angles, or subjects)?
- What purpose is the drone serving in your story?
- What context is the drone adding to your story?
- How much drone video or photograph do you need to tell the story?
- What privacy issues can you anticipate and what steps have you taken to lessen them?
- What the operations area looks like.
- What the expected weather will be.
- Any known hazards.

Prior to the shoot itself, the Pilot should also practice with the drone assigned for use.

PRE-FLIGHT: Pre-flight operations are done immediately before any flight work is to occur. The pre-flight checklist repeats some of the pre-trip checklist, such as inspecting the aircraft and some of the control surfaces. On the day of the shoot, before leaving for the operations area, the Pilot should conduct a pre-trip inspection of the drone, including:

- Charging batteries.
- That there are sufficient fully charged batteries to compensate for the possible effects of temperature on the batteries.
- Checking various mounting hardware.
- Checking the camera and storage media to ensure it is sufficient for the shoot.
- Verifying that weather parameters are within FAA Part 107 minimums, as determined by consulting an aviation weather forecast or weather report (METAR) or from obtaining a flight briefing from Flight Services.
- Verifying that the Journalist has informed local police or fire agencies that we will be using news-gathering drones.

Once on site, the Pilot will conduct the pre-flight inspection, connect the batteries, etc., and delineate a takeoff and landing area of at least 10 feet x 10 feet and ensure it is free of debris. S/he may also assign the Journalist or other VOA personnel on site to ensure that bystanders don't walk into either the takeoff/landing zone or under the drone's flight path.

IN FLIGHT: The "In Flight" checklist isn't really a checklist. It's a "Do Constantly" list, noted as a reminder for all journalists using drones. While in flight, personnel involved in the shoot must:

- Be constantly scanning for airborne traffic or obstacles. The Observer (in most cases, the Journalist) must report them immediately to the Pilot.
- Be constantly scanning for people on the ground in the flight area. The Observer must report them immediately to the Pilot.
- Be constantly checking battery levels, ensuring that the drone is returned to the landing area before reaching 25% of capacity remaining.
- Be constantly checking flight parameters such as altitude to ensure they remain within restrictions and operational goals.

Any changes to the operational plan should be discussed only at the time of battery changes.

POST-FLIGHT:

ALL POST-FLIGHT LOGS MUST BE ENTERED IN ALOFT.AI

The post-flight checklist is broken into three parts: shutting down the drone, inspecting the aircraft, and filling out logs. Logging is an essential part of drone safety. It forms the basis of the permanent record documenting maintenance of the drone VOA needs. Among other things, pilots should document any issue that should be checked or fixed between flights, drone usage (times of takeoffs and landings), problems during flight, and battery usage.

DRONE RESTRICTIONS

The FAA's website provides complete information on approved flights and operations. VOA personnel involved in drone use should familiarize themselves with the contents of the site. For news coverage by drone within the United States, these restrictions are most relevant:

Waivers to restrictions must be obtained in writing from the FAA. Without a written waiver, VOA will operate its drones in compliance with posted laws and regulations.

ACCIDENTS

By using licensed drone pilots and having a rigorous system of approvals of drone usage, VOA will minimize the instances of mishaps or accidents involving drones. Should VOA personnel be involved in accidents or injuries involving drones, the pilot and the VOA reporter/producer of the story must separately notify their service chief and division director, plus the VOA Deputy Director of Programming (jlippman@voanews.com) and VOA TV Operations. The drone pilot is required by law to notify both the Federal Aviation Agency and the National Transportation Safety Board of accidents that either cause injuries or at least $500 in damage to property.

Website contacts for the FAA and NTSB are below:

https://www.faa.gov/uas/report_accident/

<https://ntsb.gov/investigations/process/Documents/NTSB-Advisory-Drones.pdf>

ARCHIVING DRONE FOOTAGE

All high quality drone footage must go in the archives within 3 weeks of the original shoot.

If the drone operator will be editing the video, he/she should copy the footage, edit down to the best footage, and work with the Media Asset Management team to supply the metadata and get the video into the archive. If the operator does not edit, the producer must take on the responsibility.

No one will be granted continued access to a drone unless the footage from their previous shoot has been processed in the archive system. The Media Asset Management team has been alerted to tag the content as DRONE footage in the metadata, so users can easily search the database for the video.

This is a critical part of the return on the investment of training, purchasing and maintaining the drones.

HIDDEN CAMERAS & MICROPHONES

VOA does not support the use of hidden cameras or microphones for newsgathering. If there are extraordinary circumstances to do so, you must justify in advance why it is necessary.

- CLEARANCE MUST COME FROM THE VOA DIRECTOR'S OFFICE, THE OFFICE OF GENERAL COUNSEL AND THE NEWS STANDARDS & BEST PRACTICES EDITOR.

SENSITIVE & GRAPHIC MATERIAL

Newsworthiness should be the primary factor in deciding whether to air or publish audio or video that may be offensive to our audiences. Some examples include murder scenes, faces of victims, acts of war, or acts of nature.

In most cases, VOA should not broadcast or publish the moment of death in a suicide, execution, or any similar event. Exceptions might include circumstances where an event is being covered live and the action is unexpected or spontaneous, or where the event is so highly newsworthy as to warrant broadcast or posting. If it happens during live coverage, explain to the audience what has happened as quickly as possible, and move on.

The broadcasting or posting of graphic, profane, racist or other objectionable language should be determined if it is essential to the newsworthiness of the story.

Material of a sexual nature is also a cause for concern, as people of all ages listen to, watch and read VOA news stories. Questions to be asked: Is the material essential to the story? Should video be digitized in some way so as not to be offensive? Would you want your children to see such images?

If it's determined the material will be broadcast or posted online, a mandatory warning must to be provided far enough before the story to make sure children do not see or hear the material. If the material is posted online, it should not be on the homepage. Instead, a link to the story should appear on the homepage, with a warning that sexual/graphic images are included with the story.

YouTube has a blurring tool that lets you blur any part of a video, including moving objects.
(Also see YouTube Guidelines, p. 88)

- IN THESE CASES, THE NEWS STANDARDS & BEST PRACTICES EDITOR AND/OR VOA SENIOR MANAGEMENT WILL DETERMINE WHETHER TO POST SUCH IMAGES OR AUDIO AND WILL ISSUE A HOUSE-WIDE NOTE DETAILING MANDATORY LANGUAGE TO ADVISE OUR AUDIENCE OF THE CONTENT.

The following sections explain these guidelines in greater detail.

COVERING WAR

Given the many nationalities and ethnicities that VOA reaches via radio, TV and online, it's important to follow some basic guidelines in covering and reporting conflicts.

LOADED WORDS

VOA should never use “we,” “us,” “our” or “they,” “them” and “their” in reporting about any side in a conflict. VOA practice is to name the country, as in “U.S. troops” or “Pakistani troops.”

No side in a conflict should be referred to as “the enemy,” or any territory as “enemy territory” in copy or in graphics. The only exception is if you are directly quoting someone making those references.

Referring to attacks as “punishing,” “brutal” or “successful” can imply that VOA is taking sides. Again, the only exception would be if you're directly quoting someone making those claims.

REPORTING COMBAT ACTIVITY

As a rule, VOA should not report that warplanes or missiles are approaching a target. When an attack is underway, VOA will report it:

- If we're able to independently confirm that bombs/missiles have hit the ground; or
- If the country being attacked confirms it's being attacked; or
- If an official of an attacking country directly tells VOA that an attack is happening; or
- If VOA observes the attack first-hand
- If VOA's reporting is being censored or shut down and/or VOA's movements are being restricted, that should also be reported.

In all of these cases, attribution MUST be as clear and as specific as possible.

\(Also see Attribution of Outside Sources, p. 16\)

When information originates only from state-owned media, we should make that clear to our audiences the entire time the information is used.

\(Also see Using Content From State-Run Media, p. 85\)

COVERING TERRORISM

Generally, terrorism is defined as “the use of violence and threats to intimidate or coerce, especially for political purposes.” Terrorists use violence against (often innocent) individuals to advance their political or ideological agenda. “Terrorism” and “terrorist” carry a lot of weight, and they should be used with extreme care. It is up to editors to determine if they are most appropriate terms to use.

VOA will report the actions of terrorists (bombings, shootings, hostage takings) fully, accurately and without taking sides, as we would cover any other news story. Wherever possible, we should also provide appropriate coverage of the victims, their injuries and their families.

We will provide our audiences with informative analyses of terrorist organizations, their ideology and history, but at the same time VOA must never suggest that reporting the context in which terrorism takes place justifies terrorism in any way.

Table of Contents

VIDEO & AUDIO OF TERRORISTS, HOSTAGES OR PRISONERS

Statements from, interviews with, or video of terrorists, hostages or prisoners of war should be judged on their journalistic merits before making a decision on usage.

Some guidelines:

➤ TERRORISTS

- Although we will report on the actions of terrorists, VOA SHOULD NOT BE USED AS A PLATFORM TO SPREAD THEIR MESSAGES.
- VOA will not air a terrorist message in its entirety. Senior VOA managers will decide what portions, if any, of the message will be cleared for broadcast and websites based upon its news value.

➤ HOSTAGES/PRISONERS

- Pay close attention to whether a hostage or prisoner appears to have been mistreated, is bound in handcuffs or shackles, or has a hood on his/her head.
- In the case of a prisoner's statement, VOA will take special measures to ensure that the individual POW identities are not revealed (i.e. facial blurring, voice alteration, use of pseudonym).
- Senior VOA managers will decide whether to show video of this nature.

➤ FULL DISCLOSURE

- When applicable, all TV and radio scripts and web copy MUST state that VOA has not been able to independently verify the source of the video or audio. Should VOA receive the material directly from a group, army or government, that should be noted in the script and web copy as well.

➤ LEGAL ISSUES

- From the Office of General Counsel: The Geneva Convention relative to Treatment of Prisoners of War requires POWs to "at all times be protected, particularly against acts of violence or intimidation and against insults and public curiosity." Although the Convention does not define what "public curiosity" means, the U.S. is a party to the Convention and it generally applies it at all times to the maximum extent practicable.

THESE ARE BASIC GUIDELINES.
EACH INSTANCE IS UNIQUE, AND A DECISION IN ONE SITUATION WILL NOT NECESSARILY BE THE PROPER ACTION FOR THE NEXT SITUATION.
ALWAYS CONSULT WITH VOA SENIOR MANAGERS BEFORE MAKING ANY DECISIONS TO AIR OR PUBLISH MATERIAL OF THIS NATURE.

THREATS TO JOURNALISTS

VOA journalists sometimes operate in dangerous environments. Hostile governments, terrorist groups, and lone actors occasionally threaten the safety of our employees and stringers. Their safety is paramount.

REPORTING THREATS

If any person operating on behalf of VOA believes his or her safety to be under threat, it should immediately be reported to the proper authorities at VOA. Such incidents include detention, harassment, or credible threats of harm.

If an incident occurs, you must inform your supervisor, who will contact the service chief and division director. Those managers will then alert Security and the Program Office.

As part of the reporting requirements, Service Chiefs should receive verbal or written confirmation that the person affected consents for a record of the incident to be created for internal use. Information about these incidents will be securely stored on USAGM systems, with access limited to a small number of individuals.

EXTERNAL RELEASE OF INFORMATION

Any release of this information will require the clear written consent of the journalist involved, as well as clearance by the VOA Director. Even a release of the individual's name to the USAGM board requires clearance with the Program Office. Any other release of information pertaining to these incidents must be used solely to assist the affected individual or to work with organizations that further journalistic freedom.

COVERING PROTESTS/DEMONSTRATIONS

- Don't use "riot" unless you are attributing it to someone.

Riot is a crime and a specific charge. Demonstrations can turn into -- in ascending order -- unlawful assembly, civil disturbance, then finally riot. Each level has a stronger police response. If police don't call it a riot, neither should we. Do not trust the news wires on this. If police declare something a riot/disturbance/etc., they warn the protesters, and generally get the word out on social media. Follow the Twitter account from the appropriate police agency is your best bet -- and always attribute it.

Correct wording is the person "died in police custody." Until we get a trial verdict, he was not killed by police, did not die at a cop's hand, etc. He wasn't "killed," until we get a ruling from the coroner, at minimum.

All murders are homicides, but not all homicides are murders. Homicide just means a person died because of the actions of another. Murder is a specific charge and involves intent. The public rarely understands the difference. Do not use the terms interchangeably. Saying someone was murdered is very different from saying his death has been ruled a homicide. No matter what TV dramas think.

Pay particular attention to balance. For instance, if it's a protest of 200 people and only one of them shows up in a Nazi uniform, don't make that the lead photo in a web article or a video package. It's not fair to the 199 non-Nazi-uniform-wearing people who attended. And they will let you know it.

Keep in mind that cameras, microphones and lights can cause bystanders to act and/or react for the cameras. Use your best judgment and discretion in these situations; where possible, you should avoid doing anything that could possibly influence the event.

At the same time, VOA staff covering conflicts, protests or demonstrations should not take one side or another.

\(Also see Fairness, Objectivity and Balance, p. 7 and Social Media, p. 12\)

Neither the police nor demonstration leaders should be a reporter's only sources for accurate reporting of causes, issues or casualties.

COVERING MASS SHOOTINGS

The Poynter Institute provides excellent guidance on how to cover and report on mass shootings. These are their primary recommendations:

- Name the shooter infrequently, if at all, and only when his or her name is critical to helping your audience understand what happened.
- Avoid images of the shooter that could be seen as glorifying him or her by others who might be inclined to other acts of violence.
- As more information becomes available, be careful to be accurate and contextual. Small details can take on inappropriate levels of importance in the early reporting stages. Those details can be harmful to the truth if they are inaccurate or out of context.
- Avoid speculating about mental illness or allowing unqualified sources to speculate about mental illness. Witnesses, law enforcement and politicians usually know very little about the topic in general, are likely to know even less about the role of mental illness in this tragedy.
- Avoid using superlatives like “the deadliest mass shooting ever,” in teasers, tweets and other formats where context is absent. Instead, use them where you can bring more context, such as interviews, the text of stories and produced packages.

This link from SAVE.org includes additional recommendations and other important guidelines for covering and reporting on mass shootings.

COVERING CRIMINAL ACTIVITY

VOA staff must not interfere in any way with ongoing law enforcement activities. However, if some orders seem designed to manage or deny news coverage, VOA reporters, producers and photographers at the scene should protest and notify senior management and the Office of General Counsel as quickly as possible. If necessary, the agency will take appropriate legal action to protect access to the news.

There may be occasions where VOA staff has the opportunity to accompany law enforcement on arrests or investigations. These situations can present sensitive legal questions, including trespass and invasion of privacy. It's important to understand that even though law enforcement may go onto private property, IT DOES NOT mean that journalists are exempt from trespassing.

\(Also see Filming In Public vs. Private Places, p. 61\)

- THESE ACTIVITIES SHOULD BE UNDERTAKEN ONLY WITH APPROVAL IN ADVANCE FROM YOUR SUPERVISOR, VOA SENIOR MANAGEMENT AND THE OFFICE OF GENERAL COUNSEL.

HOSTAGE/BARRICADE SITUATIONS

Coverage of these situations presents difficult challenges. The following are intended to guide you in exercising your best judgment.

- The event should be characterized as accurately as possible. Before labeling an event a “riot” or “terrorism,” or referring to someone as a “terrorist,” you should discuss it with your senior editors and managers, and if necessary, with News Center managers or the News Standards and Best Practices Editor.
- It's possible that a hostage taker may be able to see, hear, or try to manipulate VOA's coverage. Describing or showing the actions or movements of law enforcement officers could tip off the hostage taker or barricaded person.
- DO NOT put yourself in a position where you could be playing a role in the incident. VOA staff should NEVER attempt to contact a hostage or a hostage taker. This could endanger a hostage and interfere with rescue efforts. It could also possibly subject you to criminal liability. You should not make or receive telephone calls from a hostage or barricade situation or from nearby homes or businesses.
- Avoid speculation about the hostage taker, his or her motives, demands, or state of mind. If a guest speculates about these issues, the host or reporter should point out that VOA has not verified that statement and move the conversation away from such speculation.

NAMING PEOPLE INVOLVED IN CRIMES

- Be precise with the language used in reporting about crime or demonstrations.

VICTIMS

VOA should not name rape victims or other victims of sexual assaults or molestations. These crimes carry a stigma for the victims, and victims should be allowed to decide whether they want to be identified. Be cautious in providing descriptive details so that the person is not inadvertently identified.

There are special difficulties in identifying minors (under 18 years of age) who have been kidnapped or are alleged victims of sexual crimes. In the case of a kidnapping, news outlets may identify minors to help them be found. However, if we learn that a kidnapped minor has been sexually assaulted, the responsible action is to stop naming the individual and stop showing his/her picture.

EXCEPTIONS TO THE ABOVE MUST BE APPROVED IN ADVANCE BY A SUPERVISOR AND THE NEWS STANDARDS & BEST PRACTICES EDITOR

SUSPECTS

- VOA does not identify suspects of criminal investigations who have not been charged or arrested.

This has become more difficult in the U.S. when law enforcement officials refer to someone as “a person of interest.” This is not a legal term, and VOA should not use it because it can place a person under increasing suspicion and may result in unintended consequences for the individual.

The essential source for identifying the status of a person or group charged or arrested is law enforcement or the court system, NOT an unidentified “informed individual.” When someone has been charged with a crime, simply so. DO NOT imply guilt or innocence. Similarly, if someone originally identified as a suspect is not charged with a crime, we must make that known as soon as possible in a follow-up story.

NAMING OR IDENTIFYING MINORS INVOLVED IN CRIMINAL ACTIVITY

In addition to the guidance above regarding minors who are victims, VOA should not name, show video or play audio of a minor who is a suspect in a crime, or is arrested and charged with a crime. Exceptions may be made if a minor is charged as an adult, but in those cases we should wait until the accused has been formally charged, not just arrested.

There may be other exceptions, such as if a minor is charged with murder or another heinous crime. In some cases, local media may have already widely reported the minor’s identity.

BEFORE DECIDING TO IDENTIFY A MINOR, PLEASE CONSULT A SUPERVISOR AND THE NEWS STANDARDS & BEST PRACTICES EDITOR

INTERVIEWING & VIDEOTAPING MINORS

Interviewing minors presents special issues, particularly where wrongdoing, criminal activity, private, potentially embarrassing or other sensitive situations are involved. In these situations, you MUST obtain permission from a parent or adult guardian. Permission should be in writing, where possible.

The release form is on Sharepoint.

If that isn't possible, recording audio or video of the parent/guardian giving consent is acceptable.

Generally, minors can be interviewed and recorded, without permission, on non-controversial subjects such as reaction to a movie, talking about a favorite food, going back to school on the first day of the school year.

When recording audio or shooting video at a school in the U.S., ask whether a school has sent out what are known as "negative releases" to parents. These are notifications that a media crew will be visiting a school, asking parents to return the notice only if they DO NOT want their child to participate in interviews or tapings. In this situation you may not need additional permission.

In a breaking news situation, if the minor is out of harm's way, it may be permissible – without parental approval -- to interview the minor if he/she is a witness or has information about the event. However, keep in mind that the minor must be freely willing to talk, and should not be asked private, personal or other potentially embarrassing questions and should not be asked to name suspects.

In all cases, ABC NewsOne, AFP, AP and Reuters video should be carefully screened to ensure that they are following the same guidelines.

COVERING & REPORTING SUICIDES

Deciding whether to report the name of a suicide victim is a delicate and difficult matter. Did the victim commit suicide publicly in order to achieve notoriety? Will reporting the person's name encourage others who might be contemplating suicide and looking for recognition? Will reporting the victim's name bring unwanted attention to family or friends? By most accounts, people who commit suicide are in a disturbed or distressed mental state. Consequently, there are no clear or easy answers to these questions.

If the person is NOT a public figure, there should be no overwhelming editorial reason to report the name. Ask the question: Is the suicide tangential to the story, or does it have a larger impact on the story or participants in the story?

BEFORE REPORTING THE NAME OF A SUICIDE VICTIM, PLEASE CONSULT A SUPERVISOR OR THE NEWS STANDARDS & BEST PRACTICES EDITOR

There may be a situation when a VOA staffer in the field is in a position to intervene in a situation where injury or the loss of life is a very real outcome. When a person decides to take his or her own life, there is no expectation that a journalist will intervene, nor is there a VOA policy on whether you should or should not intervene. It is up to the individual on the scene to use his or her own best judgment.

\(Also see Sensitive & Graphic Material, p. 31\)

BREAKING NEWS

Although breaking news situations don't often present themselves in VOA's daily coverage, there are certain key points to follow when putting that type of information on the air or online.

- Producers should use caution before airing live and/or unedited material which may be excessively graphic in visuals or language. Ask the question: Does the news value of the material warrant airing it without reviewing it first?
- When airing or posting such material, alert your listeners, viewers and readers as to the nature of the material.
- CONSULT WITH YOUR SUPERVISOR AND THE NEWS STANDARDS & BEST PRACTICES EDITOR IF POTENTIALLY GRAPHIC MATERIAL IS GOING TO BE AIRED OR POSTED ONLINE BEFORE BEING VIEWED OR WITHOUT A DETAILED DESCRIPTION.

(Also see Sensitive & Graphic Material, p. 31)

REPORTING CROWD ESTIMATES

When covering rallies or demonstrations, it's important to attribute estimates of size. Organizing groups or official agencies which provide them may have reasons to inflate or downplay the numbers.

Where non-official estimates such as "hundreds of thousands" appear to be guesses or inflated, a correspondent, producer or photographer on the scene may be able to provide a better perspective on crowd size.

As an example, they can say the crowd is standing shoulder to shoulder for four blocks. If a correspondent, producer or photographer is not covering the event, check the wire services for their reporting on the size of the crowd.

STAGING & RE-CREATIONS

➤ VOA DOES NOT DO "AS LIVE," "LOOK LIVE" OR "LIVE TO TAPE" VIDEO REPORTS.
These video playbacks of a correspondent reporting from a location are manipulated in the control room to give the illusion that this is a true live shot by placing the video in a double box and having the anchor appear to interact with the correspondent. Presenting a correspondent in this manner goes against the VOA Charter's principle of being a reliable and credible source of news and should be discouraged at all times.

- VOA REPORTS THE NEWS
- WE DO NOT CREATE OR MANIPULATE NEWS STORIES
- STAGING A NEWS EVENT OR CONTROLLING HOW IT TURNS OUT -- WHETHER BY ENCOURAGEMENT, PROPS OR PAYMENT -- IS UNACCEPTABLE

When shooting video with the subject of a story to explain something that happened, don't ask the person to do things they normally don't do. For instance: It's acceptable to shoot video of a family that goes to the cemetery once a week to place flowers on the grave of a family member, but you should explain in the track that this is something the family normally does. However, if you direct someone to go to the cemetery and lay flowers on the grave of a family member, you should explain that as well.

- The more you direct people – having them do things specifically for the camera – the more time you'll have to spend explaining that to the audience.

USING VOA EMPLOYEES OR RELATIVES FOR STORIES

Generally speaking, VOA employees should not be used in radio, TV or web pieces outside of their official capacity. In most cases do not to use the relatives or friends of VOA employees. While they may be perfect subjects to help illustrate stories, there is always the possibility of the appearance of a conflict of interest.

However, exceptions can be granted. For instance, if a relative or friend is prominent or expert in his or her own right. When in doubt, consult with your supervisor or the News Standards & Best Practices Editor.

INTERVIEWS

Even in the era of selfies, photobombing and user-generated content, most people are not comfortable being interviewed and consider recording equipment to be invasive, especially when you're dealing with sensitive subjects. One way to reduce that unease or tension is to first talk to an interview subject WITHOUT the equipment. Put the person at ease; make him or her feel comfortable talking to you before proceeding with the actual interview.

When setting up an interview, the subject may ask what questions will be asked or how the interview will be presented. It's OK to outline in advance general points of interest and the general subject areas you intend to cover.

YOU SHOULD NOT

- PROVIDE ACTUAL QUESTIONS TO BE ASKED
- PROMISE YOU WILL NOT ASK QUESTIONS OUTSIDE THE AREAS YOU HAVE OUTLINED
- PROMISE HOW SUBJECTS WILL BE TREATED ON THE AIR

Any agreement that certain questions will or will not be asked will be decided on a case-by-case basis in consultation with your supervisor and/or VOA senior management as warranted. If an agreement is approved, the agreement should be mentioned in the introduction to the interview.

If an interviewee requires VOA to use a name or title we ordinarily would not use, that too should be mentioned in the introduction to the interview.

DO NOT PROMISE THAT

- VOA WILL AIR THE ENTIRE INTERVIEW OR A PORTION OF IT IN A TV PROGRAM, OR AS PART OF A TV PACKAGE
- THAT THE INTERVIEWEE WILL BE ABLE TO FIND ALL OR PART OF THE INTERVIEW ON A VOA WEBSITE
- THAT ANY PART OF THE INTERVIEW WILL BE INCLUDED IN A TV PROGRAM OR TV PACKAGE, OR WITH A WEB STORY OR BLOG

(Also see Hosting a Guest on VOA Programs, p. 49)

NEWSMAKER INTERVIEWS

When VOA interviews a prominent newsmaker at length, the purpose is to find out what an individual, organization or group of lawmakers are thinking about a particular issue. This type of interview does not always require that the other side be presented within the interview format.

Instead, a video piece or a brief explainer can be used to set up the topic or topics being discussed, and that can be the means by which the other side's point of view is presented. Another possibility is reading copy following the interview stating the opposition's view.

Ultimately, it is advisable to seek out a corresponding interview at length with someone from the other side of the issue.

MAN ON THE STREET INTERVIEWS

Like many news organizations, we use "man on the street" interviews to give our audiences a sense of the mood or opinions of Americans about issues of the day. At best they are highly random samples and should not be presented as the definitive views of the American public.

For instance, if a language service receives soundbites from Hoboken, Tampa, Des Moines and Seattle and uses them in an anchored segment about U.S. voter opinions, the copy should indicate that it is an unscientific poll and is not representative of all American voters.

On the other hand, if the News Center or a language service interviews a few residents of Hoboken and cut those bites into a piece, the track could say, "As we walked through Hoboken, we found a variety of views about the presidential race."

RECORDING TELEPHONE INTERVIEWS

- If you are planning to record a telephone interview, the reporter or producer MUST advise the interview subject that he or she is being recorded, and that their comments will be on the record. If the interview subject objects to being recorded, the reporter or producer should ask whether the interview can be used as off the record information.

(Also see Sourcing, p. 14 and Defamation/Privacy/False Light, p. 61)

SHOOTING/EDITING TV INTERVIEWS

- When shooting a two-camera interview, it's acceptable for a reporter to register appropriate visual expressions, such as smiling at a joke. What is NOT acceptable is editing in a visual reaction that is out of sequence to the answer being given.
- Equally unacceptable is separating questions from answers. The 10th answer of an interview should not be edited as if it were the response to the 4th question, even if it seems to make the reporter's or producer's editorial point clearer.
- Interviews shot with one camera can present editing difficulties, so when possible, the camera should be set up to start the interview on a medium 2-shot. That will allow the cameraperson to push in on the interview subject, pan to the interviewer and pull back to the 2-shot as needed.
- If the above method isn't possible, then reverse questions (questions asked after the interview is done, with the camera reversed to tape the interviewer), while not ideal, are allowed. Reverse questions should be true to the original questions and if done, the interviewee or representative should be made aware and should be invited to be present.
- In this situation, because the reverse shots are happening after the actual interview, the reporter or producer should avoid showing an expression (smile, frown, nod) that might be seen as agreement or disagreement with what the subject said during the interview.

PUBLIC FIGURES

Reporting about the private lives of public figures should be relevant to the story. For example, the questioning is appropriate when the reporting is intended to expose inconsistency, lying, hypocrisy and illegal activity. In the case of candidates for public office, information about these actions often enables voters to judge the character of a candidate or elected official.

However, VOA's reporting should not be based on rumor, speculation or gossip. Reporting should rely on on the record statements and actions of public figures. Information from normally reliable sources not willing to be identified should be very closely examined.

(Also see Sourcing, p. 14 and Rumors & Speculation, p. 15)

The passage of time is an important consideration in determining what is relevant. When information is dated, evaluate it carefully. In the case of a political figure, it may be the importance of such information for the public to judge that person's qualifications and fitness to hold public office.

Consider each situation separately and own its own merits. There is no blanket rule prohibiting reporting private activities from many years ago.

Be careful when using information from sources and/or sourced information from another news organization when asking a question to a guest about his/her private life.

(Also see Sourcing, p. 14 and Attribution of Outside Sources, p. 16)

Table of Contents

Open-ended questions based on little or no evidence are strongly discouraged. For example, the question “Have you ever taken a bribe,” should not be asked unless it’s based on our reporting, or if there is a compelling and journalistically justifiable reason to ask it.

IF YOU ARE UNSURE OF THE APPROPRIATENESS OF QUESTIONING OR REPORTING ABOUT THE PRIVATE LIFE OF A PUBLIC FIGURE, CONSULT WITH YOUR SUPERVISOR AND WHEN APPROPRIATE, WITH THE NEWS STANDARDS & BEST PRACTICES EDITOR AND THE OFFICE OF GENERAL COUNSEL.

ANONYMITY

There may be reasons to agree to anonymity for an interview subject. For example, we may not wish to jeopardize the subject’s safety or subject him or her or family members to harm or undue embarrassment. But there may be legal considerations as well in granting anonymity to interview subjects.

\(Also see Sourcing, p. 14 and Attribution of Outside Sources, p. 16\)

Always ask the interviewee about his or her reasons for requesting anonymity. Clarify and confirm the conditions agreed to in exchange for the information. Anonymity for interviewees can be defined by degree. In establishing the degree of anonymity, describe the process to be used (blurring of faces, digitizing the voice, videotaping in shadow) but do not guarantee a particular result.

- INADEQUATELY DISGUIISING AN INTERVIEW SUBJECT OR A MISUNDERSTANDING OVER THE STEPS AGREED ON TO DISGUISE AN INTERVIEW SUBJECT CAN RESULT IN A LEGAL CLAIM AGAINST VOA.
- WE WANT TO AVOID PROMISING ANONYMITY FOR PEOPLE TRYING TO EVADE LAW ENFORCEMENT.
- THE GRANTING OF ANONYMITY SHOULD BE CLEARED WITH A SUPERVISOR, THE NEWS STANDARDS & BEST PRACTICES EDITOR AND/OR SENIOR MANAGEMENT AND THE OFFICE OF GENERAL COUNSEL.

\(Also see Sourcing, p. 14\)

“AMBUSH” INTERVIEWS

So-called “ambush” interviews, where a person who has refused to be interviewed is approached without notice by a reporter or producer, are discouraged and should be avoided. An “ambush” is different than a “stakeout,” where cameras are set up in advance to get comments from individuals who are going to or leaving meetings and/or work.

We are not interested in “gotcha” stories just for the sake of the “gotcha,” nor are we interested in scoring scoops just for the sake of being first-- and possibly being wrong.

CONSULT WITH SUPERVISORS, THE NEWS STANDARDS & BEST PRACTICES EDITOR AND/OR SENIOR MANAGEMENT AND THE OFFICE OF GENERAL COUNSEL WHEN CONSIDERING WHETHER TO DO AN AMBUSH INTERVIEW.

ADVANCE SCRIPTS/SCREENING

You should not show a script to an outside third party in advance of broadcast or publication. However, you can call an interviewee and review portions of a script in order to fact check. As part of the reporting process you may also show the interviewee portions of other interviews or other footage prepared for the report to obtain their reaction or comment for use in the same report. You should videotape the individual watching the other interview or other footage whenever possible.

Advance screenings of news stories are not permitted without the prior approval of VOA senior management. An exception: press screenings for review purposes.

SUBJECT RECORDING INTERVIEW

On occasion, a subject may ask to do his or her own recording of an interview. That is permissible as long as the subject understands the taping is for personal use only, and is not for broadcast, publication or other distribution. As noted above, VOA will not provide an audio or video copy of the raw interview to an interview subject.

REQUESTS FOR UNAired/UNPUBLISHED MATERIAL

As a general policy, VOA should not give third parties access to unaired or unpublished material or discuss the existence of such materials. Refer those requests to senior management and the Office of General Counsel.

(Also see Usage Requests, p. 51 and VOA Firewall, p.57)

PAYMENT

VOA does not pay people for interviews. However, it may be appropriate to pay certain travel-related expenses for an interviewee. Refer questions on this subject to VOA senior management and the Office of General Counsel.

NOTIFYING VOA SENIOR MANAGEMENT OF HIGH-LEVEL GUESTS

VOA often welcomes high-level foreign government officials and other important individuals, such as prominent dissidents and exiles to the Cohen Building. VOA journalists who schedule these meetings, visits or interviews should immediately notify senior management through their chain of command. Division Directors will then notify the Program Office for coordination with the VOA Director's Office. Decisions about any special actions that may be needed will be coordinated between the VOA Director's Office and the CEO's Office. Notification at each stage should occur prior to the visit, with sufficient time for senior management to take any actions that may be necessary.

VOA personnel who schedule meetings at the Cohen Building with audience members, members of the diaspora, or lower-level government officials should also immediately notify their Division Director. That Division Director will then decide whether additional coordination within VOA and/or the CEO's Office is required.

SECURITY PROCEDURES FOR GUESTS

Security procedures for entry into the Cohen Building are set by the Federal Protective Service (FPS), the agency that provides integrated security and law enforcement services to federally owned and leased facilities. FPS, not USAGM Security, manages the contract for the building's Protective Security Officers (PSOs), thus they report to and are represented by the FPS Inspector.

As with other Federal buildings, all visitors must show proper photo ID and go through security screening upon arrival.

- FOR PROGRAM GUESTS, THIS PROCESS CAN SEEM CUMBERSOME. CONSEQUENTLY, EMPLOYEES MUST EXPLAIN THE SECURITY PROCEDURES AND PHOTO ID REQUIREMENTS TO ALL PROGRAM GUESTS PRIOR TO THEIR ARRIVAL, AND ASK THAT THEY ANTICIPATE ABOUT 10 MINUTES FOR THE CHECK-IN PROCESS.

Accepted identification for U.S. citizens includes a valid U.S. driver's license or passport. For non-U.S. citizens a valid passport or visa will be accepted.

Please notify your guest/visitor that they will be required to go through security screening (walk-through magnetometer and x-ray machine for hand-carried items) upon arrival.

\(Also see Prohibited Items, p. 103\)

If you are sponsoring an event, please provide USAGM Security with a guest list that includes the date/time of their arrival, along with their full names and your contact information (Sponsor). Please remember that all visitors MUST be escorted while in the Cohen Building per FPS requirements. This list should be emailed to the central Security email at: usagm-security@usagm.gov.

Table of Contents

In rare cases when an important guest arrives without ID, contact USAGM Security immediately so they can work with the FPS to request an exception to normal procedures and allow the guest entry into the building. Please understand that the final decision to waive normal security procedures for your guest rests with FPS, not USAGM Security.

Exceptions to these procedures can be made in some cases for VIPs. VIPs are granted access without having to sign in or go through the metal detectors. Under some circumstances, they also enter the building through a different entry point than the C Street visitors' entrance.

The following are automatically considered VIPs:

1. The President and his cabinet, including sitting Ambassadors
2. Sitting and former members of Congress
3. Anyone who has a federal law enforcement detail, such as foreign dignitaries

For these and other special guests, employees can request VIP status from USAGM Security managers or from the USAGM Chief of Staff.

Please contact Security with any additional questions at 202-382-7777.

GUEST BOOKING PROCEDURES

- ALL REQUESTS FOR THE PRESIDENT, VICE PRESIDENT, FIRST LADY AND THE VP's SPOUSE WILL BE MADE THROUGH THE VOA DIRECTOR'S OFFICE, COPYING BARRY NEWHOUSE, MIA BUSH AND JAMISHA PURDY.

THERE ARE ABSOLUTELY NO EXCEPTIONS

- REQUESTS FOR OTHER WHITE HOUSE OFFICIALS, CABINET SECRETARIES, CONGRESSIONAL LEADERSHIP AND THE KEY BEATS SHOULD COME FROM THE NEWS CENTER CORRESPONDENTS AT THOSE BEATS.

THE CORRESPONDENTS ARE THE FACE OF VOA FOR THOSE BEATS AND WE CANNOT UNDERCUT THEIR POSITIONS

CONGRESS	Katherine Gypson
EDUCATION	Kathleen Struck
IMMIGRATION	Aline Barros
INTELLIGENCE/NATIONAL SECURITY	Jeff Seldin
JUSTICE	Masood Farivar
MEDICAL	Carol Pearson
PENTAGON	Carla Babb
SCIENCE	Steve Baragona
STATE DEPARTMENT	Cindy Saine & Nike Ching
UNITED NATIONS	Margaret Besheer
WHITE HOUSE	Steve Herman & Patsy Widakuswara

- These requests SHOULD BE SENT FIRST to the appropriate beat correspondent, copying Coverage-Desk@voanews.com. When an interview has been confirmed, an e-mail should be sent to the Guest Booking group: guest-booking@voanews.com
- When we get an interview with the President, Vice President, First Lady, VP's spouse, key Cabinet secretaries or Congressional leadership, VOA Public Relations should be notified immediately: PublicRelations@voanews.com

ADDITIONALLY: LARRY LONDON'S BEAT IS MUSIC AND PENELOPE POULOU'S BEAT IS FILM.

If a language service is thinking of interviewing a major musician or musical group or thinking of getting an interview with a film personality who is on a junket or making an appearance in a bureau city, an advisory e-mail should go out first to Larry or Penelope accordingly, and to Guest Booking.

By the same token, when Larry, Penelope or anyone else has a major music interview or movie-related interview scheduled, they should advise the Guest Booking e-mail group.

Table of Contents

When there are major awards shows – usually in Los Angeles -- Mike O’Sullivan in the L.A. bureau should Jamisha Purdy should be brought into the conversation. As with State, Pentagon or elsewhere – it does not make VOA look good if a studio or a musician’s or filmmaker’s press person is hearing from multiple VOA individuals.

LANGUAGE SERVICES & NEWS CENTER GUIDELINES

Language Services and the News Center should use the “Guest Booking” email group for notifications about the following types of information:

- Guests they intend to book, whether newsmakers or experts.
 - Should a Language Service seek an expert on a topic but has not yet identified the expert, it would still be helpful for Guest Booking to be notified of the Service’s interest in an expert on a specific topic.
 - Guests that have already been booked.
 - Unplanned interviews that were conducted in the course of newsgathering.
- Whenever possible, Language Services and the News Center should include whatever germane information is available in their guest booking notifications: details such as date and time if known, location of the interview, platform and device (Skype, smartphone, ENG camera, audio only), language, where content may be accessed, gist of interview, full log or transcript about what was said, if available.
- The News Center will collect this information and ensure it is properly entered in AP Playbook for all to see. Once your service has been trained in Playbook, you are responsible for entering your guest booking information.

When and where possible, stringers for the News Center and the Language Services should keep the field correspondents and/or Washington advised of potential interviews of interest.

- IT IS RECOMMENDED THAT ALL STAFF RESPONSIBLE FOR BOOKING GUESTS/INTERVIEWS SEND A NOTE TO GUEST BOOKING AND TO THE OTHER APPROPRIATE VOA STAFF BEFORE MAKING A REQUEST.

HOSTING A GUEST ON VOA PROGRAMS

- IT IS MANDATORY that a discussion takes place at the Language Service and/or Division level when a service is considering a live interview with a potentially controversial or hostile guest, or about particularly sensitive issues.
- The discussion should focus on determining the format for that interview, and the final decision about the format will be determined at the Division level.
- An interview with a controversial guest or about sensitive issues SHOULD NOT BE PROMOTED until the final decision on the interview format has been made.
- It may be decided that the best approach will be to RECORD the interview so that it can be edited for time and presented to the audience in the best editorial and production formats possible.
- All potential guests must be pre-interviewed to get a sense of what to expect during the actual interview. You can discuss general topics, but do not give the guest the actual interview questions in advance. That pre-interview should be available for review by producers, anchors and Language Service or Division management.
- When you know you're going to have a controversial or potentially hostile live guest, prepare a game plan with the show staff and the show Director about what to do if the interview goes downhill, so that everyone in the control room and on the set know in advance what to do, including implementation of a back-up plan.
- It is the responsibility of a program's host to do his/her homework about the guest and the subject matter. If a guest starts making unsubstantiated accusations or questionable statements, it is the responsibility of the anchor to challenge the guest about those accusations/statements, whether asking for clarification about the source of the accusations/statements or refuting those accusations/statements with facts.
- If a guest uses language that is unsuitable for air (cursing, insulting, racial or homosexual slurs, for example) it is the responsibility of the host to immediately cut the conversation off and apologize to the audience for the offensive language. It is the responsibility of the Executive Producer to alert the Director about what has happened so the Director can make sure the guest's microphone is silenced. At that point the EP must communicate to the Director and the Line Producer to implement a back-up plan.
- The Executive Producer is responsible for a written report of the incident. Detail the unacceptable or irresponsible language used by the guest, how the anchor handled the situation and what steps were taken to end the interview and go to alternate programming. The report is to be sent to the Service Chief, Division Director, Associate Director for Language Programming and the Associate Director for Operations.

- Ultimately, it is the responsibility of the Executive Producer to ensure that the program is clean and airs correctly. The anchor can only do so much. The EP has his/her finger on the button, so to speak, with the authority and ability to tell the Director and the Line Producer to go to something else. That's why you need to have a backup plan.

GOING TO BLACK DURING A LIVE INTERVIEW IS A LAST DITCH OPTION, WHEN NOTHING ELSE WORKS.
IT IS NEVER THE FIRST OPTION.

\(Also see Interviews, p. 40\)

DOMESTIC DISTRIBUTION OF VOA CONTENT

- THE SMITH-MUNDT REGULATIONS APPLY TO DISTRIBUTION OF VOA CONTENT & PROGRAMMING WITHIN THE UNITED STATES.
- THEY DO NOT IN ANY WAY IMPACT VOA'S COVERAGE OF NEWS STORIES. VOA IS FULLY AUTHORIZED AND EXPECTED TO COVER STORIES IN THE U.S. FOR DISTRIBUTION TO FOREIGN AUDIENCES OVERSEAS.

You can read the full guidance here: USAGM Smith-Mundt Guidelines

USAGE REQUESTS

The law authorizes individuals and organizations to request VOA content. From time to time, VOA staff may receive requests for one-time use of VOA content, or the request may be for ongoing use of VOA programming. These requests could come from U.S.-based media organizations, diaspora media outlets, overseas media outlets, or from educational institutions.

VOA STAFF SHOULD NOT RESPOND DIRECTLY TO REQUESTS

Instead:

- Requests for ONE-TIME USE of VOA original content should be directed to this online form: <https://www.usagm.gov/work-with-us/content-requests/voa/>
- Requests for ONGOING USE OF VOA PROGRAMMING should be sent to the USAGM Business Development Office at BusinessDevHQ@usagm.gov.

Although VOA may make its content available to qualified requestors, Smith-Mundt prohibits VOA from:

- SPENDING ITS FUNDING TO DIRECTLY INFLUENCE PUBLIC OPINION WITHIN THE UNITED STATES.
- SYNDICATING ITS CONTENT THROUGH DOMESTIC MEDIA OUTLETS WITH THE INTENT TO DEVELOP AUDIENCES WITHIN THE UNITED STATES.

- UNAIRED/UNPUBLISHED ORIGINAL VOA MATERIAL SHOULD NOT BE SHARED.

Please forward those requests to VOA senior management, the News Standards & Best Practices Editor and the Office of General Counsel.

(Also see Requests for Unaired/Unpublished Material, p. 44) and VOA Firewall, p. 57)

If you have questions about usage requests, please email Usage-Requests@voanews.com.

TALKING ABOUT VOA CONTENT & PROGRAMMING

The Smith-Mundt Act forbids VOA personnel to attempt to develop audiences within the United States. The funds which USAGM and VOA receive are authorized only to create and distribute news and information to “foreign audiences abroad,” and the law requires VOA to ensure that VOA does not distribute content and programming with the intent of influencing “public opinion in the United States.”

However, if you attend a journalism or media conference or similar event, and someone from a domestic U.S. news organization asks you about VOA’s work, you can freely talk about the content we produce every day. Nothing in Smith-Mundt prevents that.

- VOA STAFF SHOULD NOT MAKE A DIRECT OFFER OF VOA CONTENT TO ANY DOMESTIC NEWS OUTLET.
- VOA STAFF CANNOT SPEND ANY ADVERTISING OR OTHER FUNDS TO SPECIFICALLY TARGET OR DEVELOP AUDIENCES IN THE U.S.
- OTHER ACTIONS MAY BE AUTHORIZED AGAINST INDIVIDUALS VIOLATING THIS RULE
- VIOLATION OF THIS RULE AND/OR OTHER PROVISIONS OF THE SMITH-MUNDT ACT WILL RESULT IN THE TERMINATION OF YOUR AD BUDGET AND THE LOSS OF ADMINISTRATIVE ACCESS TO YOUR SERVICE’S SOCIAL ACCOUNTS.

DOMESTIC ACTIVITIES TO SUPPORT THE RECRUITMENT AND RETENTION OF HIGH-QUALITY JOURNALISTS, ENHANCE VOA'S CREDIBILITY, AND/OR DEVELOP NEW SOURCES OF INFORMATION

Domestic VOA activities such as town halls, forums, partnerships and public relations activities may be permitted if the purpose of the activity is to support the recruitment and retention of high-quality journalists, enhance VOA's credibility, and/or to develop new sources of information. Please clear such events, proposed partnerships arrangements and proposed public relations arrangements in advance with VOA leadership, who will consult with the Office of General Counsel.

TOWN HALLS

VOA journalists or other staff may host or play a role in town halls or related events if the purpose of the event is to engage overseas audiences.

PARTNERSHIPS

In line with efforts to adhere to the highest standards of broadcast journalism, there may be times, with required approvals, that VOA journalists appear as subject matters experts in other news outlets. This may be allowed if the purpose is to benefit VOA by either facilitating development of new sources of information, enhancing VOA's credibility, and/or contributing to the recruitment or retention of high-caliber journalists. In other cases, the purpose may be to disseminate VOA content overseas as part of an arrangement with another news organization.

VOA leadership may be able to approve certain partnership arrangements if the purpose is to enhance the quality or distribution of USAGM content to foreign audiences overseas. Such partnerships must be reviewed on a case-by-case basis. The final Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) is signed by the USAGM CEO.

PUBLIC RELATIONS

VOA journalists or other VOA staff may be able to engage in certain public relations arrangements if the purpose is to develop new sources of information, help recruit new journalistic talent to the agency, or to educate and inform stakeholders about VOA's mission, programs and activities. However, those arrangements must focus on VOA's journalists as subject-matter or regional experts. Public relations pitches should never attempt to place VOA-produced content in domestic broadcasts or focus on VOA storylines.

Any proposed arrangements with external public relations firms should be routed through the Office of Contracts. The Office of Contracts should send all proposals related to public relations activities or the placement of subject-matter experts to the Smith-Mundt Act Task Force for review. VOA leadership should confirm these reviews have occurred before engaging any public relation's firms.

SUMMARY

Smith-Mundt allows us to:

- Provide materials upon request
- Engage in certain partnerships
- Provide opportunities for exposure for our journalists to enhance retention and recruitment; etc.

It does not prevent us from using the internet and social media to distribute our products to audiences overseas just because people in the U.S. might also see the material.

These exceptions do not allow VOA to attempt to target audiences in the United States.

- Ultimately, if it looks like the intent is to ignore the rules – i.e. if the goal is to influence U.S. opinion, or otherwise develop audiences within the United States -- then the activity is prohibited.

CORRECTIONS

VOA's reputation and credibility are the hallmarks of the organization. While our goal is always to be accurate and fair, occasionally we will present incorrect or inaccurate information. Correcting errors strengthens our trust with our global audience and will be done in a clear and timely manner, with appropriate prominence.

TV & RADIO BROADCASTS

If we make a mistake that needs correcting, we should do so as quickly as possible while the same show is on the air. If the error is not detected immediately, then the correction should be aired on the same program in which the original error occurred, whether it's the following day or week. Make a point to say "On _____ day (state the day and date and time), we erred in our reporting..." then go on to explain what we said that was wrong, make the correction and close by saying, "Voice of America regrets the error."

VOA WEBSITES

If the error is a simple typo that does not change facts or understanding of the story, we consider it a minor change and simply correct it without further mention. If the error is substantive, we change it, and add a note at the bottom saying when it was corrected and what was wrong originally.

SOCIAL MEDIA PAGES

Facebook: Correcting an error on Facebook should follow the same procedure as on VOA websites. Update/edit the Facebook post and explain why the information was corrected.

Twitter: A good method for correcting an error on Twitter is to subtweet the correction. On the next page you'll see how Slate handled posting the wrong photo (actor Javier Bardem) when tweeting about Vladimir Putin.

The correction begins "@Slate CORRECTION:" so that Slate is replying to its own original tweet. The result is that anyone viewing the original tweet can see the correction in the stream of replies. Equally important, it refers to the photo without showing it again.

People viewing the correction tweet on its own can also see it is part of a conversation linked to the original, offending tweet.

NOTE: If you reply to yourself, then anyone who follows you will see the reply. So, in terms of who can see the correction, it's just as good as sending it as a normal tweet.

LEGAL ISSUES

This section provides brief introductions to various areas of the law that may apply to VOA journalists. These guidelines provide an overview to certain areas of the law and are not a substitute for a legal opinion from the Office of General Counsel (OGC). Please contact OGC when you have a specific legal question.

VOA FIREWALL

The “firewall” exists to maintain the credibility of reporting by U.S. international broadcasters. The firewall is violated whenever another U.S. government agency or a U.S. government official tries to influence our work by putting undue pressure on a VOA journalist or on the agency itself or takes any other action that may undermine the journalistic credibility or independence of VOA journalists. This protection arises from numerous provisions of the International Broadcasting Act (IBA), the Agency’s governing statute.

WHAT COULD RESULT IN A FIREWALL VIOLATION

- A firewall violation would likely be a U.S. ambassador or other State Department personnel demanding that you not air a particular interview or that you give a specific slant to a VOA news story.
- If a federal official from outside of VOA or from another federal agency asks you to use your access/position as a journalist to gather or provide information on their behalf, that may be a firewall violation.
- Firewall violations could also occur when someone outside of VOA takes actions that directly intrude on VOA’s professional independence and interferes with news coverage. If a directive from outside the newsroom, including from USAGM, is imposed which you think impermissibly restricts your ability to objectively report the news, or otherwise act in a manner inconsistent with the best practices of professional journalism, please notify your Service Chief and Division Director immediately.
- A direct request from non-VOA personnel to the News Center or a Language Service for your notes or unpublished recordings of video or audio may be a firewall violation. Those requests must immediately be directed to the VOA Director and the General Counsel’s Office.

UNDER NO CIRCUMSTANCES SHOULD A VOA EMPLOYEE OR CONTRACTOR TURN OVER UNAired OR UNPUBLISHED NEWS COVERAGE TO ANY THIRD PARTY WITHOUT FIRST CONSULTING WITH VOA SENIOR MANAGEMENT.

WHAT IS NOT A FIREWALL VIOLATION

The firewall should not discourage VOA journalists from interviewing government officials. It is critical to ensuring that VOA journalists and editors make the final decisions on what stories to cover and how they are covered.

It is not a firewall violation if a court, law enforcement agency, or other person or organization requests that VOA turn over reporters' notes or unpublished content through appropriate legal authority -- such as a court order or Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request. However, immediately turn the request over to your Service Chief, Division Director, or to the VOA Director's Office. For FOIA requests, please work with VOA's designated FOIA point of contact, currently Carol Prah - cprahl@voanews.com.

A supervisor or editor who asks for relevant editorial script or video changes in a story is not committing a firewall violation. That is part of the everyday nature of journalism.

WHO IS COVERED BY THE FIREWALL

The firewall exists across all of USAGM and VOA. It is important that staff not only reports up the chain of command when other government officials or agencies approach VOA, but that leadership communicates challenges to VOA's reporting down the chain so that it's clear to editors that coverage has been called into question and the journalistic reasoning behind any corrective actions.

REPORTING FIREWALL VIOLATIONS

- IF YOU BELIEVE THAT A FIREWALL VIOLATION FROM OUTSIDE VOA HAS OCCURRED, NOTIFY YOUR SERVICE CHIEF AND DIVISION DIRECTOR IMMEDIATELY. THE DIVISION DIRECTOR WILL THEN NOTIFY THE VOA DIRECTOR AND THE OFFICE OF GENERAL COUNSEL.
- IF YOU BELIEVE AN INTERNAL FIREWALL VIOLATION HAS OCCURRED, CONTACT THE NEWS STANDARDS & BEST PRACTICES EDITOR. THE EDITOR WILL REVIEW THE ALLEGATION AND REPORT THE RESULTS OF THE REVIEW TO THE VOA DIRECTOR AND THE OFFICE OF GENERAL COUNSEL.
- IN ALL CASES, THE VOA DIRECTOR AND THE OFFICE OF GENERAL COUNSEL WILL DETERMINE WHAT ACTION, IF ANY, IS TO BE TAKEN.

COPYRIGHT & FAIR USE

Copyright is a form of protection provided by U.S. law to the authors of original artistic works. Artistic works include photographs, video, audio, music, motion pictures, commercials, written products, as well as footage from other news outlets. You should not use a copyrighted work unless (1) you have permission to use, whether via VOA's contracts (such as VOA's news agency contracts) or another negotiated license agreement, or (2) your use of the work falls under the "fair use" doctrine.

FAIR USE

Determining whether use of copyrighted material is a fair use requires a balancing of four factors:

- The purpose and character of your use
- The nature of the copyrighted work
- The amount and substantiality of the portion used in relation to the copyrighted work as a whole
- The effect of the use upon the potential market for the copyrighted work.

The fair use doctrine is highly fact-specific and requires a case-by-case analysis.

A use of a copyrighted work is more likely to be a fair use if the material is directly relevant to a news story and the excerpt used is no longer than necessary to achieve the intended editorial purpose. On the other hand, the use of copyrighted material such as a music clip simply to enhance the production value of a television package is not likely to be a fair use.

Keep in mind that just because a video or audio clip is newsworthy does not automatically make VOA's use of it fair. A Fair Use Self-Help Guide with Frequently Asked Questions is available on the agency's SharePoint site.

(Also see Video Usage Rights, p. 70, YouTube Guidelines, p. 88, Audio Usage Rights, p. 97)

AMBIENT MUSIC

Any background music captured at recorded events should be edited out and replaced by narration or by music from the Music Library, because popular music uploaded to YouTube – regardless of its source – is likely to be hit with automated copyright strikes.

(Also see YouTube Guidelines, p. 88 and Music, p. 96)

PUBLIC DOMAIN

Copyright restrictions do not apply to works in the public domain, which include most U.S. federal government works, such as photos, maps, or video found on whitehouse.gov, state.gov, nasa.gov, cia.gov, and other government websites. Be sure to check the Copyright or Terms of Use/Terms of Service pages of these and other websites before using any content.

A work is also in the public domain if it is no longer under copyright protection. This depends on when and where the work was first published, but generally, works published in the U.S. before 1923 are in the public domain. Contact the Office of General Counsel for specific questions about older works or copyright terms in foreign jurisdictions.

LICENSED CONTENT

When using content from one of VOA's feed providers such as ABC NewsOne, AFP, AP and Reuters, you must check all restrictions. Questions about the video feeds should be directed to the COR, Steven Springer (sspringer@voanews.com), and to the Senior Archivists at Senior-Archivists@voanews.com. (Also see Video Usage Rights, p. 70)

REQUESTING PERMISSION

Because fair use can sometimes be difficult to determine with certainty, VOA producers are strongly encouraged to seek permission to use copyrighted material from the rightful copyright owner. You should start the process of identifying and contacting the owner of copyrighted content as early in your production process as possible, since it may take several days or weeks to identify the copyright owner and negotiate a license. Please note that obtaining permission in writing, using the standard USAGM/VOA release form, is highly preferable to getting verbal permission or by email. A template release form -- to be edited and modified, as needed -- is available on the Best Practices SharePoint page.

On occasion, a third party may request to either amend the VOA form or insist on using its own licensing agreement. Such outside agreements may contain terms to which USAGM/VOA cannot agree. Please consult OGC when presented with a third-party release form or licensing agreement.

TRADEMARK

A trademark is an intellectual property right to identify a good or service, such as a name, slogan, symbol or logo. It is unlawful to use a trademark in a manner that confuses consumers about the source or sponsorship of goods or services. This is rarely an issue in news broadcasting, since the law allows you to use a mark without permission in a news story if the mark is used in an informational sense. For example, if you are reporting on the BP oil spill, it is appropriate to show the BP logo to identify the company. However, if you are launching a new VOA program, avoid using trademarked slogans or titles.

VOA has three trademarks:

- VOA design mark. This is the VOA logo. Font, color and design must be used as registered with United States Patent and Trademark Office for protection.
- VOA® standard character mark. These are the letters "VOA" together without regard to font or color.
- Voice of America® standard character mark. These are the words, "Voice of America" used in combination without regard to font or color.

These marks are only registered through the United States Patent and Trademark Office (USPTO), not with any foreign government entity.

TRADEMARK & SPORTING EVENTS

When covering major sporting events VOA journalists must be careful with using official trademarks. For example, it could be argued that a VOA graphic incorporating the VOA background/colors/image with the official Olympic rings logo creates an unauthorized association between VOA, which is a non-Olympics marketing partner, and the International Olympics Committee (IOC).

More information on the above topics can be found at the Best Practices site on SharePoint.

FILMING IN PUBLIC VS. PRIVATE PLACES

Generally, news media have the right to be in public places and on public property to gather information, photographically or otherwise. However, VOA journalists should be aware of rules, permits, or prohibitions on filming or taking of photographs at certain meetings, sporting events, or in private spaces such as businesses and shops. Similarly, journalists should seek permission from an owner or occupant (even if the occupant is not the owner) before entering private property or a residence.

\(Also see Covering Criminal Activity, p. 35\)

PROOF OF INSURANCE

VOA staff may be asked to provide a certificate of liability insurance when filming in locations where event organizers or property owners want to protect themselves against third party bodily injury and property damage. Unlike private sector media outlets, the U.S. government self-insures against liabilities. Therefore, the agency does not purchase liability insurance, and there is no such certificate that VOA can provide.

Instead, the Office of General Counsel provides a letter explaining this that can be sent to the appropriate parties. Two versions of the letter – one on VOA letterhead and one on USAGM letterhead -- are now available in Word documents on the VOA Best Practices SharePoint page:

VOA Insurance Letter USAGM Insurance Letter

Each letter has blanks so that you can fill in the names of VOA staff that will be on location and the name of the property/location you will be working at. Use the VOA letterhead if you choose to have your service chief or division director sign it. Use the USAGM letterhead if you prefer to have an attorney in the General Counsel's Office sign it.

If you have any questions about this, please contact the General Counsel's Office or the News Standards & Best Practices Editor.

DEFAMATION/PRIVACY/FALSE LIGHT

Under U.S. law, the central question in an action for defamation or invasion of privacy is whether the statements in question are true or false. Truthful publication or broadcast of matters pertaining to legitimate public interest should generally not expose VOA to liability in the United States, especially if VOA's reporting concerns a public figure.

However, VOA may be liable for invasion of privacy in certain situations for the publicizing of private facts or falsehoods. Not only that, other countries' defamation and "insult" laws are not as protective of the press, so broadcasts that are legal in the U.S. may still expose VOA to liability overseas.

VOA journalists should not intercept or record any private conversations without the permission of the participants, as this may be a crime in certain jurisdictions. The Office of General Counsel should be consulted when a VOA journalist receives intercepted conversations from a third party or in any other special circumstances.

\(Also see Recording Telephone Interviews, p. 41\)

The following guidance is provided by the Reporters Committee for Freedom of the Press (rcfp.org):

- Check sources thoroughly. Get independent corroboration whenever possible. A source could have a vendetta against the subject and willfully or unintentionally misrepresent the facts for his or her own purposes. Confidential sources may disappear or recant in the face of a lawsuit. Don't rely on someone else to be accurate.
- Do not let your opinion about whether someone is a public figure or official color your decision to verify the accuracy of a story. Juries do not respond favorably to reporters who fail to confront their subjects with defamatory information and provide them with an opportunity to comment.
- If you cover the police or courthouse beat, make certain you understand criminal and civil procedure and terminology. Be especially careful to restate accurately any information obtained about arrests, investigations and judicial proceedings.
- Be cautious when editing. Make sure the story does not convey the wrong information because of a hasty rewrite.
- Watch for headlines and cutlines that might be defamatory even though the text explains the story.
- Make sure news promos or teasers used to stir audience interest are not misleading or defamatory.
- Do not use generic video footage or file photos when reporting on an activity that might be considered questionable.
- Just because someone else said it does not mean that a news organization cannot be sued for republishing it. This includes letters to the editor. Check out any factual allegations contained in them as carefully as you would statements in a news story.
- Be sensitive about using words that connote dishonest behavior, immorality or other undesirable traits, whether in your published story or in comments in your notes. Remember that a judge may order a news organization to produce reporters' notes, drafts and internal memoranda at a libel trial.
- If contacted by someone threatening a libel suit, be polite, but do not admit error or fault. Talk the case over with your editor, supervisor or attorney immediately, and follow procedures established by your news organization.

DO NOT BE RECKLESS WITH THE TRUTH

REPORTER'S PRIVILEGE & CONFIDENTIAL SOURCES

The reporter's privilege originates in the First Amendment's guarantee of a free press. The rationale is that forcing journalists to disclose confidential sources will discourage sources from communicating with reporters, thereby disrupting the free flow of information protected by the First Amendment. In some circumstances, journalists are compelled to disclose confidential sources. Because of USAGM's special status as a federal government agency, some internal VOA documents may also be subject to the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA).

\(Also see Sourcing, p. 14\)

VOA JOURNALISTS SHOULD CONTACT OGC IF APPROACHED BY ANY LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICIALS.

IN SOME SITUATIONS, THIS COULD BE A FIREWALL VIOLATION.

\(Also see VOA Firewall, p. 57\)

REPORTING ON CLASSIFIED DOCUMENTS

A number of laws and regulations, including several criminal statutes, regulate access to, and transmission of, classified information. VOA has a specific protocol in place regarding its reporting on classified documents in the public domain, such as the documents released by WikiLeaks in 2010.

- THE SUPERVISORY INVESTIGATIVE EDITOR SHOULD BE CONSULTED BEFORE YOU BEGIN ANY ASSIGNMENT RELATING IN ANY WAY TO CLASSIFIED MATERIAL, EVEN IF THE CLASSIFIED DOCUMENTS ARE PUBLICLY AVAILABLE ON A WEBSITE LIKE WIKILEAKS.
- THE SUPERVISORY INVESTIGATIVE EDITOR WILL CONSULT WITH SENIOR MANAGEMENT AND THE OFFICE OF GENERAL COUNSEL REGARDING ALL APPLICABLE LAWS.

SUBPOENAS OR REQUESTS FOR TESTIMONY OR DOCUMENTS

- IF YOU RECEIVE A REQUEST OR DEMAND TO TESTIFY IN A LEGAL PROCEEDING ON MATTERS RELATING TO OFFICIAL AGENCY INFORMATION OR YOUR OFFICIAL DUTIES, OR IF YOU RECEIVE A REQUEST TO PRODUCE AGENCY RECORDS OR INFORMATION, CONTACT THE OFFICE OF GENERAL COUNSEL IMMEDIATELY.

There is a special regulatory procedure for handling requests for testimony by current and former employees and handling the production of documents in legal proceedings in which USAGM is not a named party.

\(Also see What Is Not A Firewall Violation, p. 58\)

INTERNATIONAL TRAVEL BY VOA STAFF

While U.S. government employees must usually obtain a country clearance from the State Department before official government travel abroad, VOA staff traveling to covering the news may travel to countries in which U.S. Missions are located with minimal formality, which will typically only include a notification of intent to travel to the State Department. Please be mindful that travel to some sanctioned countries may require additional licensing or documentation. Reporters should contact their supervisors and the Travel Office before planning travel to these countries.

OUTSIDE ACTIVITIES

FULL-TIME VOA STAFF AND PERSONAL SERVICES CONTRACTORS ARE REQUIRED TO FOLLOW THESE PROCEDURES BEFORE RESPONDING TO A REQUEST OR MAKING ANY COMMITMENTS

USAGM/VOA has written policies that in some cases allow staff and personal services contractors to accept limited outside employment. Management approval is required before undertaking work for anyone other than VOA, however, either for private or government employers. Journalistic best practices may also preclude you from doing outside work, and certain ethics rules may apply as well. You may not do any work for anyone other than VOA without first receiving written approval from VOA.

OUTSIDE EMPLOYMENT GUIDELINES

WORK FOR FEDERAL GOVERNMENT

With few exceptions (e.g. census, postal service), Federal employees are prohibited from working for other Federal Government agencies. This includes work for the executive, legislative and judicial branches and corporations or grantees owned or controlled by the Federal Government (See BAM Title 5-A). Personal Services Contractors may work for other Federal agencies with prior approval of VOA.

WORK FOR PRIVATE EMPLOYERS

Federal employees may work for non-governmental employers. The same restrictions apply regarding written approval prior to accepting outside employment whether by federal employees in the private sector or PSCs for any outside employer. Activities are unlikely to be approved if they:

- Constitute a conflict of interest or the appearance of a conflict of interest.
- Involve use of agency materials, time, or facilities.
- Involve a particular matter on which you've worked in an official capacity.
- Are likely to adversely affect the agency's ability to fulfill its mission
- Would involve working for outlets that broadcast to or publish in the same target area as you serve for the agency

Beyond these restrictions, because the highest standards of journalism require a reputation for impartiality, individual VOA journalists should not perform media training, outreach, advocacy or similar work for private sector/commercial entities, either paid or unpaid. However, upon official request, VOA journalist may counsel U.S. government agencies on how to deal successfully with the news media.

Lastly, you should not provide advice to candidates for public office, regardless of whether in the United States or abroad.

OUTSIDE EMPLOYMENT APPROVAL PROCESS

You must obtain approval from your service chief, equivalent supervisor or your division director to make sure your outside employment will not conflict with official duty schedules or requirements. The supervisor provides the agency's primary review in the following three areas.

- The employment does not involve use of agency time, materials, or facilities;
- The amount of time worked outside of VOA is reasonable and will not interfere with your ability to perform your VOA job; and
- Your outside work will not conflict with your official duty schedule.

For example, approval to work a second job of 35 hours per week is unlikely if the requestor already has a full-time job at VOA. Approval is also unlikely if a shift change is needed to accommodate outside employment.

In performing the analysis above, supervisors should flag for Outside Requests any unusual circumstances, such as an employee seeking outside employment involving a matter she worked on in her official capacity.

Once approved at the service and division levels, the requester should send all relevant information to OutsideRequests@voanews.com, VOA's Outside Requests committee. They will review the requests to ensure they don't violate government ethics regulations, journalistic ethics/best practices or otherwise present the appearance of conflicts of interest or public relations issues.

Outside Requests will review the supervisor's approval for reasonableness and consistency with agency policy, and whether the employment would involve:

- An actual, potential, or appearance of, a conflict of interest.
- Interference with the agency's ability to fulfill its mission
- Working for outlets that broadcast to or publish in the same target area as you serve for the agency

Note that Outside Requests may need specific information from employees to complete a review.

Example 1. A staff employee wants to work for a contractor on a matter that he worked on personally and substantially as a Government employee. Outside Requests will need to know the "what" and "when" of the matter. Sufficient time may have passed to remove any conflict.

Example 2. A PSC wants to work 15 hours per week translating for a Government agency. Which agency? Does the translation involve translating wiretaps, testimonies of criminal defendants, testimonies of witnesses to illegal activity, or other information about a newsworthy story of interest to VOA that will conflict with an employee's job as a VOA journalist?

Even if approval is granted, your outside work will be subject to VOA conflict of interest policies to ensure that VOA's journalistic integrity or impartiality is not compromised by your outside activities.

OUTSIDE PUBLIC APPEARANCES GUIDELINES

Outside speaking, writing and teaching opportunities can be highly beneficial, both personally and professionally, but if not done properly, they can have serious consequences. All FTE and PSC journalists must receive management approval before accepting requests for outside public appearances, including outside teaching, speaking, or writing activities. Federal regulations prohibit federal employees from receiving compensation for outside teaching, speaking, or writing activities that directly relate to their official duties. PSCs should consult Outside Requests if they have an outside public appearance for which they are being offered compensation.

OUTSIDE APPEARANCE APPROVAL PROCESS

FTE and PSC journalists: You must obtain written approval from your service chief or equivalent supervisor to make sure your outside appearance will not conflict with official duty schedules or requirements.

Once approved at the service level, requests will be forwarded to OutsideRequests@voanews.com, which will review requests to ensure they don't violate government ethics regulations or journalistic ethics/best practices.

Even if approval is granted, your public appearance work will be subject to VOA conflict of interest policies to ensure that VOA's journalistic integrity or impartiality is not compromised by your outside activities. In order to avoid appearances of impropriety, if you will be identified as an agency employee in connection with your outside activities, especially regarding outside teaching, speaking, or writing, you must include a disclaimer that the views expressed are your own and not those of VOA, USAGM, or of the U.S. Government, as appropriate.

GUIDELINES FOR NON-PSC CONTRACTORS & OVERSEAS STRINGERS

Contractors who do not have Personal Service Contracts generally have wider latitude to engage in activities outside the scope of their contracts with the Agency, but they should keep in mind that certain activities and actions could jeopardize continued performance on their current contract, or their ability to obtain a follow-on contract.

Non-PSC contractors and overseas stringers must notify OutsideRequests@voanews.com of any outside appearance that you have accepted before the event occurs. You do not need VOA approval. However, notification assists VOA in advising you about activities that may undermine your objectivity as journalists and/or the credibility of the Agency.

When doing work or taking part in an activity outside of VOA, it is important for non-PSC contractors and overseas stringers to refrain from stating or creating the impression that they are employees, agents or representatives of the agency. They should not say that they "work for" VOA or are "correspondents at" VOA. Rather, they should indicate that they are "freelance journalists," "regular contributors to VOA," or use a similar description.

Non-PSC contractors and overseas stringers CANNOT accept requests for outside appearances if those requests conflict with a contractor's duty hours for VOA.

ADDITIONAL GUIDANCE

Aside from the types of activities outlined here, there is also the issue of whether VOA staff, contract journalists and stringers can, or should, express themselves outside of the office.

VOA's mission is to provide accurate and objective news and information. To facilitate that mission, as journalists, you are expected to remain neutral and objective in all public appearances and public spaces, including social media. That means that you should try to avoid conduct or activity that would call into question your neutrality and objectivity as well as the neutrality and objectivity of VOA.

- For example: If as a VOA journalist you are reporting on or otherwise working on a story regarding “X” situation, it is recommended that you avoid publicly voicing your personal opinion about that situation because such activity may call into question your credibility as a journalist and could compromise VOA’s reputation as a reliable and credible news organization.

\(Also see Social Media, p. 12\)

EXERCISE GOOD JUDGMENT WHEN CONSIDERING YOUR OPTIONS AND MAKING YOUR DECISIONS.

COMPETITIONS & CASH AWARDS

VOA employees, Personal Services Contractors and other contractors may submit VOA work for approved journalism awards. Work that is done for VOA, belongs to VOA. Such work cannot be submitted for awards without prior approval. These are the guidelines that must be followed for awards submissions.

SUBMISSIONS

Division Directors or their appointed awards coordinators must approve all awards submissions for their divisions. Employees seeking to enter contests must seek approval prior to submission. This is true whether the front office, the division or an individual is paying for the submission. Divisions need to ensure that they are not allowing multiple entries that will result in internal competition.

There are three different processes by which an entry may be submitted:

- Front office: Approved through division and submitted to the front office through Pat Bodnar. The front office gives final approval, prepares and processes the entries and pays for these submissions.
- Division: This is for awards that the front office does not fund, but the division wants to enter. Division approves these entries, prepares and processes them for submission and pays the entry fees. The front office must be made aware of these entries to make sure different VOA units are not competing against each other - Individual: Approved through division. Individual prepares and processes the entry and pays the entry fee. These entries must be approved by the division and the division must alert the front office to ensure that different VOA units are not competing against each other. Management has final approval over these entries even though individuals are submitting and paying themselves.

There are federal ethics laws governing whether VOA employees and/or contractors can accept cash awards. Prior to submission the award entrant must notify management that a cash award is involved. The General Counsel's Office will determine on a case by case basis how such awards will be handled. In these cases, Outside Requests (OutsideRequests@voanews.com) must be notified well in advance.

TRAVEL TO AWARDS CEREMONIES

Divisions and/or the Director's Office may provide travel and per diem expenses to a VOA award recipient to attend an approved awards ceremony. The travel must be directly to and from the site of the ceremony and must follow the policies in the Federal Travel Regulations. The decision to fund such travel will be made on a case by case basis.

A division or the Director's Office may provide reimbursement of travel and per diem expenses for one additional person of an award recipient's choosing. The person can be a family member or someone whose close association with the employee is the equivalent of a family member. At the Division Director's discretion, travel for a second person may be considered when the award winner requires assistance because of a disability or other medical need. One travel order will be issued covering the employee and the additional person. The employee will be responsible for submitting a travel voucher to obtain reimbursement for the travel costs of himself/herself and the additional person.

Employees or contractors who win other awards are encouraged to attend on their own time and at their own expense. If the sponsor of the award is offering to pay for travel and/or per diem, a request to accept those or any cash prize must be made through Outside Requests.

VIDEO USAGE RIGHTS

VOA has contracts with three different video newsfeed providers: Agence France Press (AFP), Associated Press (AP) and Reuters. We receive video from ABC NewsOne through our contract with AP. Each contract is unique and stands on its own.

Steven Springer (sspringer@voanews.com, 202-203-4276) is the Contracting Officer's Representative (COR) for the newsfeeds. The Senior Archivists assist in administering and facilitating use of the video and audio newsfeeds.

BEFORE USING ANY VIDEO, IT IS THE PRODUCER'S RESPONSIBILITY TO REVIEW THE NEWSFEED SCRIPT SOURCE INFORMATION TO CHECK FOR RIGHTS RESTRICTIONS

COMMON FEATURES

- Newsfeed scripts for the video stories cannot be used on VOA websites as a text-only story.

However, the information contained in video scripts can be used within a VOA story when they are combined with pertinent information from other news sources and follow VOA's sourcing guidelines.

RIGHTS RESTRICTIONS

Restriction statements vary from provider to provider and cover different ground; the most common restrictions are described on the following pages.

Restrictions are usually listed near the top of the script, but also appear above specific items in the script as necessary. VOA must follow the rights restrictions listed in the scripts and we must pay attention to the source of the video. Our providers send stories in which the video may come from a variety of sources, from FIFA to ESPN to handout video to awards programs to other news organizations. The restrictions listed reflect the rules of both the source organization and the newsfeed providers.

You may see some variation of the following restrictions, regardless of the provider, on all the feeds:

- NO ACCESS INTERNET / NO WEB
Because VOA programming is available on the web, newsfeed items marked NO ACCESS INTERNET or NO WEB means the video/audio cannot be used at all, unless permission is granted by the newsfeed provider. Reuters, however, has a special requirement regarding our streaming shows, so please see the Reuters page for details. Please contact Steve if you need help with this.
- TIME-LIMITED USAGE
You will often see limited windows of usage on stories, especially for entertainment and sports programs. Footage must be pulled off the web by the date and time listed in the script info or in advisories posted in e-mail.

- MANDATORY COURTESY
When noted in the script the courtesy must appear on-screen in TV and web stories, and an audio courtesy must be used on radio.
- NO LIBRARY / NO ARCHIVE
Videos with these restrictions means that after you use them for the first time they can never be used again, even though they will be archived in the Video Library.

USING VIDEO FROM TV NETWORKS

- We DO NOT have blanket permission from ABC, CBS, CNN, FOX or NBC (including MSNBC and CNBC) to record and use clips from their newscasts or weekend talk shows.
The only exception is ABC's This Week program (see next page).
- Soundbites from the other networks' weekend talk shows should be taken from our regular agency newsfeeds, and we must follow the restrictions the networks place on the use of those clips.
- There are times when we will claim "fair use" for a network news video clip that has not been fed on an agency newsfeed, but you must contact Steve to get clearance. If necessary, Steve will consult with the General Counsel's Office regarding any potential legal considerations.
\(Also see Copyright and Fair Use, p. 59\)

ABC NEWS

ABC NEWSONE

- VOA receives material daily from the ABC News affiliate service NewsOne. VOA cannot use on-camera talent; this applies to anchors, show hosts and reporters, whether for ABC Network or an ABC affiliate station. This restrictions also applies to hosts of ABC Entertainment programs.
- When an ABC item is listed as PACKAGE ONLY/NO EXCERPTING, it generally means that VOA must run the package as fed by NewsOne. We cannot lift individual sequences or shots out of a package. Steve can contact NewsOne to see if that restriction can be lifted.
- NO RETRACKING generally means that VOA cannot translate, summarize, adapt or otherwise make the piece shorter or longer. Please contact Steve to see whether the No Retracking restriction can be lifted.
- NNS is a news-sharing cooperative between ABC News and other news organizations. VOA is cleared to use all video that is marked as NNS.
- Use of all ABC standard graphics must be addressed on a case-by-case basis and users must contact Steve to seek permission before using.
- 3D graphics can be used only if the entire package is used. There are no exceptions.
- If a story is marked ABC AFFILIATES ONLY, VOA is cleared to use it. However, if a story is marked ABC AFFILIATES ONLY, NO INTERNATIONAL CLIENTS, please contact Steve to get clearance for use.

THIS WEEK

- VOA is authorized to excerpt up to two (2) minutes of This Week.
- Material from This Week may be posted on VOA's websites only if it is part of a VOA television program.
- Material excerpted from This Week cannot be used after three (3) days and the This Week program cannot be archived for future use.
- THIS PERMISSION IS ONLY FOR ABC'S THIS WEEK PROGRAM.

NO BROADCAST OR INTERNET USE OF ANY COLLEGIATE AND PROFESSIONAL SPORTS VIDEO FED BY ABC NEWSONE!

NO USE ON ANY PLATFORM OF ABC NEWS OR ABC ENTERTAINMENT PROMOS!

AGENCE FRANCE PRESSE (AFP)

VOA has clearance to use all AFP video unless otherwise noted below.

EXAMPLES OF AFP RESTRICTIONS

- Source: NNIS
Restrictions: NO RESALE FOR NON-EDITORIAL PURPOSES
VOA use is editorial, so we can use these videos. In addition, VOA must version content for our audiences before broadcasting or posting it online.
- Source: PARLIAMENTARY RECORDING UNIT (British Parliament)
Restrictions: NO RESALE FOR NON-EDITORIAL PURPOSES / NOT FOR USE IN ENTERTAINMENT OR POLITICAL SATIRE PROGRAMMES
VOA is clear to use items with this restriction, but not in a satirical, Daily Show-type production.
- VOA can use video with these restrictions:
NO RESALE FOR NON-EDITORIAL PURPOSES
NO JAPAN
NO FREE OVER-THE-AIR BROADCASTERS IN AUSTRALIA, NO U.S. CABLE OUTLETS, FREE OVER-THE-AIR NETWORKS OR STATIONS, THEIR WEBSITES AND THEIR MOBILE PHONE SERVICES.

WEB-RELATED RESTRICTION STATEMENTS

- NO WEB USE or NO AFP WEB - Stories carrying either of these restrictions cannot be used on any VOA websites.

CBS NEWS VIDEO

- Some AFP items may carry restriction NO USE ANY MEDIA, which normally indicates the video comes from CBS News. VOA DOES NOT have access to CBS News content.

NO ACCESS IRAN AND NO ACCESS VOA PERSIAN TV

- VOA Persian cannot use AFP video stories shot in and sent from Iran, or stories about Iran filmed in other countries. This includes ALL video of Iran, even when the restriction isn't noted on the script.
NOTE: The stories restricted to the Persian Service can be used by the News Center and the other Language Services.

SOCIAL MEDIA SITES

- VOA CANNOT post raw or live AFP video on any of its social media pages.
- VOA can post on its social media pages AFP video that is contained within VOA-produced TV packages. It is also OK to use AFP material in programs which are broadcast and streamed on VOA webpages.
- AFP recommends that we do not put video marked as No Archive on our websites or social media sites.

ASSOCIATED PRESS (AP)

- APTN Clients Only – VOA is able to use all stories with this restriction
- Horizons clients and AP Lifestyle, Health and Technology Clients Only
VOA subscribes to these categories and can use any story that carries this restriction.
- SNTV Clients - VOA has unlimited use of stories when SNTV is the “Original Provider” or “Source” of the video. They will be marked SNTV Clients Only in the rights restrictions section of the script. However, if the “Original Provider” is a third party, such as FIFA, IOC, etc., you must follow the restrictions listed within the rights restrictions section of script.
- NO ACCESS IRAN AND NO ACCESS VOA PERSIAN TV
VOA Persian cannot use AP video stories shot in and sent from Iran, or stories about Iran filmed in other countries. This includes ALL video of Iran, even when the restriction isn’t noted on the script and includes video previously received that we have in the Video Library and the VOA Persian video server.
NOTE: The stories restricted to the Persian Service can be used by the News Center and the other Language Services.
- OTHER RESTRICTIONS
VOA can use stories that have restrictions to other geographic regions. For example, stories marked No Access Russia or No Access Indonesia can be used by those Language Services as well as all other VOA services.

However, non-regional restrictions, such as No Access Internet, must be followed. Sometimes permission will be granted; in those cases, please contact Steve to gain clearance.
- AP videos may sometimes be marked NO WIRELESS. With the exception of French to Africa, VOA has clearance to use these videos on our Internet and mobile platforms. Please contact Steve if you have questions about NO WIRELESS restrictions.
- ABC Talent on AP-fed stories: On occasion, AP will feed an ABC story. ABC talent cannot be used. \(Also see ABC News, p. 72\)
- NO ARCHIVE
AP videos marked as No Archive can remain on digital platforms indefinitely.
The exception is videos marked with an expiration date, such as Oscars, Emmys, Grammys, etc. If there is an expiration date, then the video must be removed from all websites and social media platforms on or before that date. It is the responsibility of the News Center and Language Services to keep track of expiration dates and removal of video.

REUTERS

- Most Reuters videos are listed as NO RIGHTS RESTRICTIONS or the restriction listed is NONE; those stories can be used across all platforms at any time.
- If a Reuters video is marked FOR EDITORIAL USE ONLY, we can use it.
- Reuters videos may sometimes be marked NO MOBILE USE. With the exception of French to Africa, VOA has clearance to use these videos on our Internet and mobile platforms. Please contact Steve if you have questions about NO MOBILE USE restrictions.
- NO USE VOA - Stories with this restriction generally originate from NBC News and CANNOT be used by VOA

VOA DOES NOT HAVE CONTRACTUAL RIGHTS TO USE NBC CONTENT.
THIS INCLUDES CONTENT FROM CNBC AND MSNBC.

IF THERE IS A STRONG EDITORIAL REASON TO USE NBC NEWS OR NBC
AFFILIATE MATERIAL – AND SIMILAR MATERIAL CANNOT BE FOUND ON THE OTHER NEWSFEEDS – PLEASE CONTACT STEVE TO SEE WHETHER WE CAN GET CLEARANCE TO USE THE VIDEO.

- PART NO USE VOA – Stories with this restriction are usually a mixture of Reuters and NBC video. Please send the full script and shotlist to Steve or the Senior Archivists if you're not sure which parts of these stories you can use.
- U.S. NETWORK POOL - The five U.S. news networks -- ABC, CBS, CNN, FOX and NBC – shoot video daily that is designated Pool material. In most cases, this applies to domestic and overseas coverage of the president, and in election seasons, coverage of presidential candidates.

Check with Steve before using Network Pool video fed by Reuters.

HOWEVER, VOA CANNOT USE U.S. NETWORK POOL VIDEO OF THE VICE PRESIDENT, FIRST LADY, VP'S SPOUSE, SECRETARY OF STATE, SECRETARY OF DEFENSE OR OTHER CABINET MEMBERS AND MEMBERS OF CONGRESS.

It is strongly recommended that you contact Steve if there is any uncertainty about the designation of a video provided to Reuters by NBC.

- Sports items will often be heavily restricted. Many have NO ARCHIVE restrictions, very often 48 hours but also 15 days or a specific date.

- Video shot in the UK often carries this restriction:
ITN COPYRIGHT: TV: NO ACCESS ALL DOMESTIC AND INTERNATIONAL CHANNELS DISTRIBUTED IN UK & EIRE ON SKY/VIRGIN/FREEVIEW; BBC/BSKYB GROUP: NO ACCESS WORLDWIDE ANY MEDIA; INTERNET: NO ACCESS.CO.UK WEB SITES AND ALL WEBSITES PRINCIPALLY TARGETED AT THE UK AND/OR EIRE; MOBILE: NO ACCESS WORLDWIDE; NO USE AFTER 30 DAYS FROM DATE FIRST USED ON ALL PLATFORMS.

This is an extremely targeted restriction statement and it is recommended to call Steve for guidance. Typically, we will find the relevant info, and call for clearance or clarification when necessary. In this example, “MOBILE: NO ACCESS WORLDWIDE” is the relevant statement we need to follow.

- NO ACCESS IRAN AND NO ACCESS VOA PERSIAN
VOA Persian cannot use Reuters material filmed in or sent from Iran, or stories about Iran, even if filmed in another country, even if it is filmed by third parties on behalf of Reuters.
NOTE: The stories restricted to the Persian Service can be used by the News Center and the other Language Services.

- OTHER RESTRICTIONS
VOA can use stories that have restrictions to other geographic regions. For example, stories with No Access Russia or No Access Indonesia can be used by those Language Services as well as by all other VOA Language Services.

However, non-regional restrictions, such as No Access Internet, must be followed. Sometimes permission will be granted; in those cases, please contact Steve to gain clearance.

- NO ARCHIVE
Reuters videos marked as No Archive can remain on digital platforms indefinitely.

The exception is videos marked with an expiration date, such as Oscars, Emmys, Grammys, etc. If there is an expiration date, then the video must be removed from all websites and social media platforms on or before that date. It is the responsibility of the News Center and Language Services to keep track of expiration dates and removal of video.

If a video marked as No Archive cannot be found on Reuters Connect, that means they do not have the rights to archive the video.

THE RESTRICTIONS OF OUR VIDEO PROVIDERS CAN CHANGE AT ANY TIME

IF YOU HAVE ANY QUESTIONS, PLEASE CONTACT STEVE

NEWS AGENCY IDs & THE DOT

Incoming video from AFP, AP and Reuters are stamped with the ID of each news agency as the video is recorded in Galaxy. ABC NewsOne video is stamped with the Dot.

THE IDs AND THE DOT INDICATE THAT THE STAMPED MATERIAL CANNOT BE SHARED WITH OR USED BY ANY VOA DOMESTIC CLIENTS OR REQUESTORS.

The IDs and the Dot appear in the UPPER LEFT of the frame AND CANNOT BE OBSCURED.

- IF YOU USE NEWS AGENCY VIDEO IN A PACKAGE, PROGRAM OR SOCIAL MEDIA POST, PLEASE MAKE SURE THE AGENCY ID OR THE DOT IS ALWAYS VISIBLE.
- THIS IS THE ONLY WAY WE CAN GUARANTEE THAT NON-VOA VIDEO WILL BE PROPERLY NOTED AND AVAILABLE FOR EASY REFERENCE IN THE FUTURE.
- ALL VIDEO DOWNLOADED FROM THE ABC NEWSONE, AFP FORUM, AP NEWSROOM AND REUTERS CONNECT WEBSITES MUST HAVE THE PROPER ID ADDED TO THE VIDEO BEFORE BROADCAST OR PUBLICATION ON VOA WEBSITES AND SOCIAL MEDIA PAGES.
- IF YOU INSET THE WRONG AGENCY ID YOU CANNOT RE-INSERT ANOTHER ID. YOU WILL HAVE TO START THE PROCESS AGAIN.

This is how the agency IDs and the dot appear on incoming feeds:

- ABC, AFP, AP AND REUTERS VIDEOS IN THE VOA LIBRARY PRIOR TO JULY 3, 2013 DO NOT HAVE THE AGENCY IDS OR THE DOT EMBEDDED IN THE VIDEO. THEREFORE, ALL ABC, AFP, AP OR REUTERS LIBRARY VIDEO PRIOR TO 7/13/13 MUST HAVE THE PROPER ID OR DOT ADDED TO THE VIDEO.
- IT IS THE RESPONSIBILITY OF THE REPORTER, PRODUCER AND/OR VIDEO EDITOR TO ENSURE THAT THE PROPER AGENCY ID OR DOT IS ADDED TO THE EDITED VIDEO.
- EXISTING FILE VIDEO THAT ALREADY HAS THE DOT DOES NEED TO BE RE-STAMPED WITH AN AGENCY ID.

THE DOT MUST BE ADDED TO CLIPS PRIOR TO 7/3/13 FROM THESE SOURCES

- IRINN
- Journal of American Medicine (JAMA)
- NewsMarket
- UNIFEEDS (United Nations video)
- Other Acquired Material:
 - From VOA Acquisitions Branch
 - Obtained by VOA Reporters
 - Obtained from a Third Party

THESE SOURCES PRIOR TO 7/3/13 DO NOT REQUIRE THE DOT OR OTHER ID

- VOA Original Footage
- House Recording Studio (Including hearings and news conferences)
- NASA
- Pentagon
- Senate Recording Studio (Including hearings and news conferences)
- State Department
- White House

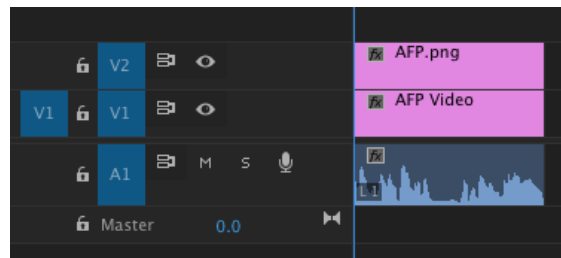

ADDING AN AGENCY ID/DOT IN PREMIERE PRO

In order to add the news agency IDs or the Dot to your video in Premiere, you will first need to import the graphic files.

They are located at: \\voa_creative\HOUSE DISTRIBUTION\VOA Brand Toolkit\VOA DOT for FEEDS

Import the needed files into Premiere and drag them to a video track above your footage. The graphic files will automatically key themselves over the video with their built in alpha channels.

Use the VOA DOT in HD.png file for ABC News video:

ADDING AN AGENCY ID/DOT IN GALAXY

THE DROP FOLDER PROCESS WILL REPLACE THE ORIGINAL VIDEO

IT CANNOT BE UNDONE

BE SURE THE VIDEO IS LINKED TO THE CORRECT FOLDER!

Go to the !Conversions sub-folder in the main CATEGORIES folder:

Locate the footage in Galaxy that needs the bug. Left mouse click, hold and drag the video to the appropriate folder, and release the mouse button. Choose Link.

The video will begin rendering and the original video will be replaced with the video and the bug. While the video is processing, the colored dot next to the thumbnail image will change from green to red to yellow, and back to green again. This process usually takes a few minutes.

When the colored dot is back to green the process is complete, and you can view your video with the selected bug burned into the upper left corner.

- DO NOT VIEW OR USE THE VIDEO UNTIL THE CONVERSION PROCESS IS COMPLETE AND THE VIDEO IS BACK ONLINE
- THE VOA DOT MUST BE ADDED TO CERTAIN PROPRIETY VIDEO – SEE LIST ON PAGE 79

IF THERE ARE ANY QUESTIONS ABOUT WHETHER TO ADD AN AGENCY ID OR THE DOT TO OLDER LIBRARY VIDEO, PLEASE CONTACT STEVEN SPRINGER (SSPRINGER@VOANEWS.COM)

NEWSMARKET

Newsmarket (www.thenewsmarket.com) is an online provider of video. Although the site has a lot of available material, there are a number of guidelines that VOA must follow in order to use the video.

- You must be an employee or contractor working with VOA and use your work e-mail to access the site. To establish an account, contact Pam Commerford (pcommerford@voanews.com), chief of the Media Asset Management Branch.
- Keep your password confidential; it is for your use only.
- Registered users are responsible for searching images and ensuring that no costs are associated with the material. If costs are required, funding must come from your language service or division.
- The VOA producer or language service is responsible for obtaining the terms and conditions of use of the material. Newsmarket makes no claims about the accuracy of the content on its website, so producers must be sure to exercise VOA journalistic standards in the choice and use of material.
- Credit must be given for content used and logos or copyrighted images cannot be changed or obscured.
- You must use the content for editorial purposes only.
- You cannot store the original content for future use. The content from Newsmarket must be deleted from your workspace when you are finished with your initial use. Should you need the content again, you can go back to the website and re-capture it.
- The material that you use in a VOA story or program can and will be archived; there is no restriction on this material.
- The content incorporated in your stories and shows can be distributed on all VOA platforms.
- The Office of Cuba Broadcasting (OCB) is included in this agreement, meaning that VOA and OCB ONLY can share material that is acquired from Newsmarket.

RESTRICTIONS

- You cannot provide unedited content to other organizations, including the USAGM grantees RFE/RL, RFA and MBN.
- You cannot use the Newsmarket logo or trademark in a way other than how it is presented in your story.
- You cannot use any technology to monitor, copy or deep link with Newsmarket.

All questions regarding registration on Newsmarket and its use should go to Pam Commerford (pcommerford@voanews.com, 202-382-7124)

USING CONTENT FROM STATE-RUN MEDIA

Any country's official news agency is a valid single source when referring to government policy or news events in that country. In these cases VOA must identify the news agency in its copy.

Note the distinction, in that country. For example, a report by China's official news agency about North Korea may not be a valid single source.

In addition, VOA's newsfeed providers AP and Reuters have agreements in place to distribute material provided by CCTV, Chinese State Television. AP includes a disclaimer for all CCTV material, as seen in this screen grab:

Reuters does not provide a video disclaimer for CCTV material, but this notice appears at the bottom of every script Reuters provides from CCTV:

© Copyright CCTV. The content in this story, including video and script is provided by China Central Television (CCTV) and is copyright CCTV. Thomson Reuters does not guarantee the accuracy of, or endorse the views or opinions given in, this package. THIS STATEMENT SUPERSEDES ALL OTHER STATEMENTS RELATING TO COPYRIGHT ATTACHED TO THIS CONTENT.

While the video that CCTV and other state-controlled media outlets like RT produces often comes from areas where coverage is otherwise unavailable, VOA policy for using content provided by state-controlled media is that it should be reviewed by senior editors in a service, by the News Center or by the agency's News Standards & Best Practices Editor before any decision is made about airing or publishing the video.

State-run media material that is cleared for broadcast or for use on the web MUST include proper credit to that news organization and the disclaimer that VOA cannot confirm the accuracy of the material. For video usage, the on-screen credit should be either: "From CCTV" or "CCTV Video." This guidance is the same for material received from RT or similar state-run media outlets.

There may be times when we want to use the video, such as when it's the only known video of a major news event or if we're comparing how VOA and other news organizations cover stories.

- HOWEVER, ANY USE OF STATE-RUN MEDIA VIDEO SHOULD BE DONE WITHIN THE CONTEXT OF A LARGER PACKAGE THAT IS BEING PRODUCED BY THE NEWS CENTER OR A LANGUAGE SERVICE.
- WE SHOULD NOT RUN A FULL PACKAGE FROM CCTV, RT OR ANOTHER STATE-RUN OUTLET SIMPLY BECAUSE WE HAVE IT AVAILABLE.

VIDEO NEWS RELEASES (VNRs)

A video news release (VNR) is a video segment made to look like a news report, but is instead created by a public relations firm, advertising agency, marketing firm, corporation, or even by a government agency. VNRs are produced with the aim of shaping public opinion, promoting commercial products and services, publicizing individuals or supporting other interests.

VNRs may include interviews with experts (who may be paid by the company or ad agency for their appearance in the VNR); man on the street interviews that may be done with professional actors; and pictures of corporate logos to support the product or brand being promoted.

Although we occasionally receive VNRs from AP and Reuters, that does not make them any more legitimate for use by VOA.

There may be times when material from a VNR is appropriate for excerpting in a video package.

Example #1

If the Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center in New York discovers a new treatment for prostate cancer and the Center provides a video of its research work, VOA can, and should, use some of that video to illustrate the story.

- The script must say the video was provided by the Center, and there must be a visual credit to the Center as well.

Example #2

Apple unveils the latest version of the iPhone and sends out a VNR showing the latest changes in the phone and how it operates. VOA can use some of the video to illustrate its story.

- The script must say the video was provided by Apple, and there must be a visual credit to Apple as well.

Please keep in mind, however, that as with fair use of video, all instances of whether to use material from a VNR will not be the same, so always check first with Steven Springer (sspringer@voanews.com)

VOA SHOULD NEVER AIR A VIDEO NEWS RELEASE IN ITS ENTIRETY

More detailed information about feeds and rights can be found in Rights Usage Guidelines Presentation and the Video Newsfeed Guide found on the Media Asset Management Branch \(MAM\) page on SharePoint.

DIGITAL MEDIA

YOUTUBE GUIDELINES

- YouTube videos ARE NOT primary SOURCES for video packages. ALWAYS check the ABC NewsOne, AFP, APTN and Reuters folders in Galaxy and their websites first. If necessary, contact the Senior Archivists (senior-archivists@voanews.com) for assistance.
- The VOA Video Library (video-library@voanews.com) has extensive file video available; always check there before relying on YouTube for file video.
- Use caution and common sense and avoid using videos from YouTube that may violate someone's copyright. When in doubt, please contact the News Standards & Best Practices Editor for guidance.

Similar rules apply to other online video sites.

Use of YouTube videos should be cleared through the News Standards & Best Practices Editor or the COR for the contracts if they are not the same person. The video can be used full-screen as long as credits, chyron information and other on-screen information is not obscured or deleted.

The actual YouTube logo MUST be burned into the video and remain on-screen throughout the clip:

In addition to the logo shown above, YouTube has a variety of logo styles that can be used as needed.

YouTube has a blurring tool that lets you blur any part of a video, including moving objects. This link takes you to the tool.

\(Also see Sensitive & Graphic Material, p. 31\)

CREDITS FOR MUSIC VIDEOS & MOVIE CLIPS

Proper credits for music video and movie clips is mandatory:

Name of Song/Music Publishing Company

Name of Movie/Film Company

The name of the music publishing company or film company can usually be found in the SHOW MORE section of the YouTube entry. Here's an example, using the official music video for Katy Perry's "Roar," signified by the musical note next to her name under the video window. When you scroll down past the video and the official designation, click on SHOW MORE.

The screenshot shows a YouTube video player for Katy Perry's "Roar (Official)". The video is set in a dark, jungle-like environment with green foliage. Katy Perry is in the center, wearing a white button-down shirt with a leopard-print scarf and a light-colored skirt. The video player includes a progress bar at 0:51 / 4:29 and a "vevo" logo in the bottom right corner. Below the video, the title "Katy Perry - Roar (Official)" is displayed, along with "2,938,221,520 views • Sep 5, 2013". To the right of the video are icons for likes (10M), comments (828K), share, save, and a menu. Below the video, there is a section for the artist "Katy Perry" with a profile picture, a verified badge, and "35.4M subscribers". Below this, there are two links: "Get 'Roar' from Katy Perry's 'PRISM': http://katy.to/PRISM" and "Katy Perry Complete Collection on Spotify: http://katy.to/SpotifyCompleteYD". A "SHOW MORE" link is circled in black. A red "SUBSCRIBE" button is located to the right of the artist information.

After you click on SHOW MORE, scroll down to the listing that reads: LICENSED TO YOUTUBE BY. It shows the names of all the music publishing companies that have rights to the music. The U.S. rights holder is always listed first; in this case it is UMG, which stands for Universal Music Group. The proper on-screen credit for the music video would be: “Roar” / UMG

YOU DO NOT HAVE TO INCLUDE THE PERFORMER’S NAME, THE NAME OF THE ALBUM OR THE PERFORMER’S RECORD COMPANY

The screenshot shows a YouTube video player interface. At the top, the YouTube logo and search bar are visible. Below the video player, there is a sidebar with various options like 'Category', 'Music in this video', 'Learn more', and 'Listen ad-free with YouTube Premium'. The main content area displays the video title 'Roar' by Katy Perry. Below this, there is a section titled 'Licensed to YouTube by' which lists the following entities: UMG (on behalf of Capitol Records (CAP)); LatinAutor - Warner Chappell, LatinAutor - PeerMusic, IMPEL, Warner Chappell, UMPI, AMRA, ASCAP, LatinAutor, BMI - Broadcast Music Inc., Kobalt Music Publishing, PEDL, ARESA, Muserk Rights Management, UNIAO BRASILEIRA DE EDITORAS DE MUSICA - UBEM, CMRRA, Pulse Recording (music publishing), and 23 Music Rights Societies. The 'UMG' entry is circled in red.

EMBEDDING

Embedded video is effectively just a link; no copy of the video is being stored on your server. Therefore, you may use embedded video on VOA websites. However, you should still use caution and common sense and avoid posting videos that may violate someone’s copyright. In particular, do not post videos that contain music, movies or television broadcasts unless those videos are posted on the official YouTube channel of the copyright holder. Many movie studios and music companies allow you to take embed code for trailers or video clips directly from their main site. In those cases, it’s much easier to tell that you’re using an official video when it’s on the company website.

AUDIO

- The audio from a YouTube video cannot be stripped from the video.

YouTube's Terms of Service stipulate that embedded content cannot be manipulated or downloaded for use away from www.youtube.com.

In addition, YouTube – as well as Facebook -- takes audio copyright very seriously. If you add popular commercial music to a video that will be posted on YouTube, your video will likely be taken down, and after three “copyright strikes,” your account will be terminated -- and you’ll be barred from creating a new account.

YouTube now has an audio library where you can find royalty-free, high-quality production music and sound effects to use in your videos. Follow this link to create an Audio Library account.

- In addition, the VOA Music Library subscribes to free online music accounts: Firstcom.com, Dewolfemusic.com, Apmmusic.com (which includes the Omni Music Library. Please contact Vincent Bonner (vbon@voanews.com, 202-382-7932) or Delondra Barron (dbarron@voanews.com, 202-382-7394) to get an account opened with these sites.

While we can always attempt to make a fair use claim for audio clips, it is highly recommended that you rely on the free music sites noted above.

USER-GENERATED CONTENT

Like all news organizations, VOA receives video, audio and photos from outside sources. The content may be sent for the purpose of showing an up-close look at a news event; to present a particular point of view; to cast a negative light on a government, an organization or individuals.

In all cases, VOA journalists must take every editorial precaution to ensure the legitimacy of the submissions before broadcasting them or publishing them:

- CONTACT & IDENTIFICATION

Reach out to individuals or groups who have posted material to verify that they are the owner of the work. Clearly identify yourself as a journalist when making inquiries about user-generated content.

- NEWSWORTHINESS

Is there a valid editorial reason to use video, audio or photos that we receive from an outside source? Does the user-generated content help to further inform our audience about an issue or incident?

- MOTIVE

Does the individual or group sending the material have an agenda? If VOA determines the content is agenda-driven and decides to air/publish the content, we should reveal why the material was submitted, and who submitted it.

- REAL OR STAGED

Can VOA confirm that the video, audio or photo is real? Or, can VOA determine whether the content is fake or staged, produced in the hope that VOA might air or publish it?

- COPYCAT INCIDENTS

Will the broadcasting or publication of the video/photos encourage others to create or produce similar content that in some cases could be life-threatening?

- RIGHT TO PRIVACY

Was the material recorded or photographed without the knowledge of the individuals involved? In other words, was the material recorded with a hidden camera or microphone?

- HOW WILL THE CONTENT BE USED

Should VOA receive sensitive or graphic content, follow the guidelines in the section on Sensitive & Graphic Material, p. 31. In some cases it may be more appropriate for such material to be posted online only, where users can choose what they do or do not want to see or hear.

- PERMISSION

Once it's established the content is valid and its owner is identified, ask for permission to use the material. As always, VOA gives credit where credit is due, so the person who created the content should be identified accordingly; it is up to the individual or group whether to use real names or a website/social network username.

- PAYING FOR MATERIAL

Other than our existing agreements with the news agencies and our freelancers, VOA does not pay for content. Please keep this in mind when dealing with user-generated content.

\(Also see Payment, p. 44\)

- DISCLAIMERS

We must always tell our audiences when we are airing or publishing user-generated content. In addition, we should tell our audiences that while we have checked for the legitimacy of the material, we cannot absolutely verify the content. As with all of VOA's reporting, transparency is key.

Follow this link to a useful at-your-desk tool for verifying user-generated content.

It provides various case studies that can easily be applied to potential UGC situations at VOA.

If you are uncertain about using photos or video taken from social media, please see the guidance on copyright and fair use in the Legal Issues section of this Guide, or e-mail the Office of General Counsel at copyrightclearances@usagm.gov.

UGC VETTING TEAMS

- REGIONAL EXPERT – VOA's vetting of UGC begins with the language skills and regional knowledge of our language service staff. Ideally these are the people locating new user-generated content and providing the first layer of vetting by authenticating regional dialects, recognizing landmarks and applying their specialized experience and knowledge.
- TECHNICAL EXPERT – Someone who is familiar with the tools, techniques and resources for detecting digital manipulation such as deep fakes. These are the tools VOA teams have successfully used:

Adobe After Effects: Can check, pixel by pixel, whether content has been manipulated

Amber Video: This app authenticates video content within a few minutes, but users must buy credits to use its services

Adobe Photoshop: Can be used to check photo metadata as well as whether the photo has been edited

Wondershare Video Convert: This tool is used to convert low quality and phone videos into usable videos with acceptable quality

Adobe Premiere: Enhances the quality of videos and can manipulate brightness, contrast

- EDITORIAL EXPERT – A VOA journalist who is an expert in VOA’s editorial standards provides a final layer of vetting for authenticated content before it is broadcast or published. These should be language Service Chiefs or senior News Center editors. They work closely with the UGC team, reviewing every video with the regional and technical experts. The editorial expert not only vets the content, but also ensures that VOA news copy properly describes the content according to VOA sourcing guidelines (see next section). The editorial expert ultimately bears responsibility for deciding whether UGC is appropriate for use by VOA

DESCRIBING UGC IN NEWS COPY

After any user-generated content is approving for broadcast/publishing, it must be clearly identified in news copy. Accurate descriptions of UGC are critical to maintain VOA’s credibility and transparency with our audiences. Examples of these descriptions:

“VOA could not independently verify the authenticity of the video/photo.”

“In a video circulating on social media, which has not been independently verified by VOA...”

For video used in TV packages, chyrons should clearly identify UGC:

“Video via Iranian social media”

“Cell phone video from human rights activists in Thailand”

When necessary, identify the source of the content – WITHOUT jeopardizing individuals or the methods used to distribute the video:

“Videos sent to VOA via secure messaging apps...”

“In videos circulated on Chinese social media platforms...”

“Videos of the incident shared with local journalists in Peshawar showed...”

The AP Stylebook offers useful tips on verifying user-generated content:

https://apstylebook.com/ap_stylebook/user-generated-content

If you are uncertain about using photos or video taken from social media, please see the guidance on copyright and fair use in the Legal Issues section of this Guide, or e-mail the Office of General Counsel at copyrightclearances@usagm.gov.

VIDEO, AUDIO OR PHOTOS THAT ARE OPENLY AVAILABLE ON THE INTERNET DOES NOT MEAN THEY ARE IN THE “PUBLIC DOMAIN” OR “FREE TO USE”

REVEALING WEBSITES AND ADDRESSES

In most cases, websites are not considered in the public domain for purposes of publishing pictures of them. They fall under the same fair use guidelines as other copyrighted material. If you have questions about whether you can show a website, please contact the Office of General Counsel and the VOA Digital team.

Generally, website addresses can be revealed, as long as they are not for sites which promote criminal behavior or contain pornography. Avoid showing website addresses if it might be construed as a commercial for the site. Exceptions would include educational or informational sites, or charitable sites raising money for victims of a natural disaster.

When reporting on political campaigns, include links to the websites of the candidates mentioned in the piece. (Also see Political Activity, p. 10)

AFFILIATE/RECIPROCAL LINKS

Reciprocal links to affiliate websites are permitted, under the following guidelines:

- The decision to establish an online affiliation should reflect the same editorial considerations that go into establishing a broadcast affiliation – including credibility, reputation, trust and audience reach.
- VOA Language Services should consider the total number of affiliates when determining the placement of reciprocal links. A service that has a small number of large, reputable partners is justified in establishing front-page reciprocal links. A service that has dozens of broadcasting affiliates should create an Affiliates page where they may all be listed. Each situation must be considered separately. It may be appropriate to have a homepage reciprocal link with a major web portal that is a primary news source in the language, and a separate Affiliate page with reciprocal links to broadcasting affiliates.
- Affiliate logos or text links may be used to establish reciprocal links, as appropriate.
- Reciprocal links should be reviewed on a regular basis, and VOA must reserve the right to remove the link at any time, if the affiliation ends or the target site no longer reflects the editorial integrity under which the relationship was established.
- Terms of Use must include a disclaimer that “VOA is not responsible for the content of external websites.”

If you have questions about these guidelines, please contact Matthew Baise (mbaise@voanews.com) or Steven Springer (sspringer@voanews.com).

GENERAL GUIDELINES

The Music Library (Room G-510A) serves as the resource and research center for VOA programs containing music. Not only does the library catalog music, it also provides a historical and educational setting for producers and broadcasters to research various sources relating to music: biographies, event-driven materials, periodicals, almanacs, encyclopedias, etc.

The Music Library database currently contains a variety of musical recordings dating as far back as the 1930s. The database is catalogued by album titles, song titles, artists, and record company names/numbers. You can contact the Music Library at: Music-Library-Staff@voanews.com

CD, albums and other music sources can be borrowed for one week at a time. Any item you borrow cannot be taken out of the building. Borrowers are responsible for replacing any items that are lost or stolen.

COPYRIGHT GUIDELINES

- All of the music in the Music Library, commercial, popular and production, can be used for radio programming.
- Popular music includes Top 40, rock, jazz, pop, soul, jazz, reggae, country, folk, rap, dance music, etc.
- VOA DOES NOT HAVE THE RIGHTS TO DISTRIBUTE POPULAR MUSIC RECORDINGS FOR VIDEO PROGRAMMING OR ON ANY DIGITAL PLATFORM, INCLUDING SOCIAL MEDIA.
- ONLY production music can be used for TV programming and digital platforms.
- The Music Library has free accounts available to all VOA staff for these online production music sites:
 - Apmmusic.com – includes the Omni Music Library
 - Dewolfmusic.com
 - Firstcom.com
- Please contact Vincent Bonner (vbon@voanews.com, 202-382-7932) or Delondra Barron (dbarron@voanews.com, 202-382-7394) to get an account opened with these sites.

In addition, the Archive & Research Group has an account with Audioblocks.com – please contact Pam Commerford (pcommerford@voanews.com, 202-382-7124) to request access to Audioblocks.com.

Commercial music could be used in a transformative (fair use) manner in a VOA video piece – perhaps 35-40 seconds to demonstrate Prince’s virtuosity as a guitarist – but those uses should always be checked in advance with News Standards & Best Practices Editor Steven Springer (sspringer@voanews.com, 202-203-4276).

(Also see YouTube Guidelines, p. 88 and Ambient Music, p. 59)

AUDIO USAGE RIGHTS

These guidelines DO NOT APPLY to the video newsfeeds that VOA subscribes to. Please see the Video Usage Rights for that information.

Some of the news organizations listed in this section have given VOA blanket permission to use audio excerpts from some of their news programs. These permissions should be respected. Requests to use audio not covered by listed blanket clearances should be sent to Steven Springer, (sspringer@voanews.com), the Contracting Officer's Representative (COR) for VOA's contracts with the news agencies.

AUDIO CLIPS FROM TV NETWORKS

VOA should use the following credit in the radio script for all programs: "As reported on [Network and program name]," or equivalent language giving credit to the appropriate news organization.

While we will always claim fair use for relevant audio excerpts, there are a few exceptions, listed below.

ABC NEWS

DO NOT use the voices of any ABC News anchors, correspondents, reporters, commentators and stringers.

- This Week – VOA has received permission to record the entire Sunday talk show to use content of particular interest to our audiences. However, there are some restrictions:
 - We are authorized to excerpt up to two (2) minutes of the program.
 - Material may be posted on VOA's websites only if it is part of a VOA television program or video package.
 - Use of ABC talent should be kept to a minimum in the story. This is the ONLY exemption to the restriction on using ABC News talent in VOA programming.
 - Excerpted material cannot be used after three (3) days and the This Week program cannot be archived for future use.
 - This permission is ONLY for This Week.

AUDIO-ONLY USAGE FROM ALL OTHER ABC NEWS OR ENTERTAINMENT PROGRAMS MUST BE CLEARED PRIOR TO USE.

CBS NEWS

DO NOT USE the voices of ANY CBS News employees, including anchors, reporters, correspondents, commentators or stringers.

WE DO NOT HAVE PERMISSION TO USE ANY CBS NEWS AUDIO CLIPS ON VOANEWS.COM OR ON ANY OTHER VOA WEB PRESENCE.

CNN

VOA has no overall agreement with CNN for use of audio clips, but we will claim editorial “fair use” as necessary on a case-by-case basis.

FOX NEWS CHANNEL

VOA has permission to excerpt for radio no more than 3 minutes of audio from the Fox News Sunday broadcast. VOA must credit Fox News Sunday.

ALL OTHER FOX TV PROGRAMS MUST BE CLEARED PRIOR TO USE.

FOX DOES NOT ALLOW ANY OF ITS MATERIAL TO BE REBROADCAST OVERSEAS.

NBC NEWS, MSBNC & CNBC

VOA has blanket permission to use audio excerpts from The Today Show, Meet the Press and NBC Nightly News. All news specials, documentaries and other special programming must be cleared prior to use. There is no restriction on the use of NBC correspondents’ voices, but use of NBC correspondent reports is limited to U.S datelines. VOA does NOT have clearance to use audio actualities from any CNBC programs.

PHOTOGRAPHS

GENERAL RULES

- The goal of images is to enhance the readers' understanding of the story – and make it look better on the web. Take photos that add to your story and submit as many as you can so editors can decide which are best.
- Show the people, places and things that you talk about in your stories - If you emphasize a place or interview a person get a picture. If you cover a demonstration, show the protest signs or faces of the people. However, be aware that minors may be present at demonstrations, and you should use good judgment in photographing them in those situations.

- Get close up to your subject if you can. Take photos from different perspectives and distances.
- Make sure your subject is clear, focused, and lit as well as possible.
- Always send in the largest file size possible. Photo and web editors can crop as needed and warranted.
- Headshots are good. Also try to get images of the subject in their environment and in action.
- Remember the rule of thirds.
- Shoot landscape \(horizontal\) instead of portrait. Landscape photos look better on VOA websites and on social media pages.

EDITING PHOTOGRAPHS

- VOA allows for the adjustment of photos for brightness, contrast and color.
- However, VOA does not permit altering a photograph in any way that changes the meaning of the photo. This includes adding or subtracting elements to create a scene that is not an accurate representation of what was originally shot.
- While it's OK to crop a photo, that should not change the meaning of the photo; for instance, cropping a photo that may leave out a key individual in the story.

CLOSELY EXAMINE DIGITAL PICTURES FROM OUTSIDE SOURCES TO ENSURE THAT THOSE IMAGES HAVE NOT BEEN ALTERED.

This is a fascinating look at how, depending on lenses, angles and perspective, a photo can present very different and distinct views of a scene: Telephoto Lens v. Wide Angle Lens
(Also see User-Generated Content, p. 92)

PHOTO ILLUSTRATIONS

When creating a photo to illustrate an idea, whether in the camera or using Photoshop or a similar program, the reader must always be informed that the image is a photo illustration and not a standard news image. This should be done either with a caption or in a tagline.

TECHNICAL TIPS

- Use your flash to balance out the light - If you are outside on a sunny day and you are shooting in the shade use your flash to fill heavy shadows if needed. If you are indoors and taking an image of someone in front of a window use your flash.
- Don't shoot portraits with the sun or bright light behind your subject unless you are using a flash to fill the light.
- Be careful of using a flash in front of glass or a mirror - The flash will bounce back into the lens. If you have to do this don't shoot straight on toward the glass, try to shoot at an angle to the glass.
- Be careful of microphones - Try to get a clear shot of the person without a microphone in front of their face

Always email your service and English-Webdesk@voanews.com or Coverage-Desk@voanews.com when submitting photos.

Always include who is paying for the photos and if they are available for use by the house. Always include caption info.

Photos can be submitted via email, any photo sharing service such as flickr or Picasa, or via ftp.

CAPTIONS/CREDITS

Reporters and producers in the field must supply the captions for your photos. Caption info is:

- Who, what, when and where.
- Credit – who took the photo.
- Keep captions short and clear – photo and web editors will often rewrite and edit them.

VOA's caption style is the same when crediting staff and stringers: John Doe/VOA

VOA's photo contracts with AFP, AP and Reuters allow us to use their photos on all VOAnews.com websites.

It is MANDATORY that ALL news agency photos be given proper credit, as seen in the example below:
(Also see Crediting the Newsfeed Providers, p. 19)

U.S. Vice President Mike Pence speaks during an Easter fellowship dinner at a military base in Seoul, South Korea, April 16, 2017.

Credits are also required for photos from other sources, including other news organizations, NGOs, a business or a social media post. Social media posts should include the social media site and the name of the person who took the photo. For example:

CBS News

Pew Research Center

Instagram/JohnSmith

Twitter/@JohnQSmith

Facebook/John Smith

Some public domain images also require a credit, such as the White House, State Department, Defense Department, Library of Congress and National Archives.

APPENDIX

PROHIBITED ITEMS

This guidance comes from the Cohen Building Office of Security:

- To keep a safe workplace, the following items are prohibited in the Cohen Building for employees, contractors and visitors: firearms, weapons, explosives, hazardous chemicals or other destructive devices, including their individual parts or components, that could cause injury, death or property damage.
- The prohibited items follow the Interagency Security Committee Standard guidelines for prohibited items at Federal facilities and are followed by the Cohen Building's security team.
- Visit the Office of Security SharePoint site for the full list of prohibited items. The site also has a PDF handout that you can email to your guests to inform them about security screening before they visit the building. questions or issues regarding security screening or prohibited items may be address to the USAGM Office of Security at 202-382-7777.

CONTROL ROOM EMERGENCY PROCEDURES

EMERGENCY EVACUATION TV CONTROL ROOM ACTIONS

1. The Director will direct the Producer to tell the anchor to make the statement, "We must interrupt this program, please stand by. We will return as soon as possible."
2. Director or TD fades to black on anchor and fades up on generic VOA full screen graphic.
3. Director or TD notifies TVMC that an ID graphic is up and that the control room and studio staff are vacating the building.
4. Using the same graphic, TVMC takes control of the path seamlessly when ready. TVMC evacuates the building.

EMERGENCY EVACUATION RADIO CONTROL ROOM ACTIONS

1. Producer tells anchor to make the statement, "We must interrupt this program, please stand by. We will return as soon as possible."
2. Technician plays VOA1 "The Hits" so that VOA branded content continues standard frequencies.
- 2a. Alternate: Producer tells anchor to introduce "linked" show. This means all remaining show elements could continue to playout without live inserts until done.
3. Technician links remaining program elements and executes.
4. Technician notifies RMC of programming status.
5. Radio MC takes necessary steps to ensure program continuity.
6. Master Control, Control- room, and studio staff evacuate the building.

EMERGENCY NCC ACTIONS

NCC receives the broadcast product from Master Control and transmits it to the respective distribution points. NCC does not alter the product content sent to them for distribution.

TO IMPLEMENT THE TV CONTROL ROOM PLAN, OPERATIONS MUST

1. Load the TVMC full screen VOA graphic in each TV control room switcher. This may be updated in the future pending further guidance.
2. The Broadcast Operations management is responsible for making sure the graphic is installed in all control rooms and Master Control, and that the emergency plan is communicated to their respective staffs.
3. Broadcast Operations is responsible for maintaining the emergency full screen VOA graphic in their daily operation control room set up, and show programming.

TO IMPLEMENT THE EMERGENCY EVACUATION ACTION PLAN, LANGUAGE SERVICE MANAGEMENT MUST

1. Communicate the emergency action plan to service leadership and staff.
2. Each service must provide to Division management the service action plan for contacting affiliates about disruptions.

ALL LANGUAGE SERVICES AND BROADCAST OPERATIONS STAFF ARE REQUIRED TO EVACUATE THE BUILDING DURING AN EMERGENCY

NOTE: This Emergency evacuation guide for Broadcast Operations and Language Services is for real emergencies, and when there is any doubt please respond as though it is a real emergency.

However, a fire drill is not an emergency. If a fire alarm drill will be conducted, employees and managers will be notified in advance of the testing.
